President Calls In His Key Aides

To Discuss Defense Spending, Trade And Civil Defense

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—A one-day respite from the burdens of office ended today for President Kennedy as he called in key advisers for conferences on defense spending, civil defense and trade policy.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara headed the delegation coming from Washington for day-long talks at the President's Cape Cod home.

Kennedy set up three separate conferences, the first beginning at 10 a.m. and dealing with the problem of trade policy.

But the government officials had to wait in Washington for a fog to lift at Otis AFB, Mass., so their jet plane could land. White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said this would delay the start of the conferences about an hour.

This will be followed by a two-hour session on defense spending during the fiscal year starting next July 1. A mid-afternoon talk on civil defense will wind up the meetings.

Joining Kennedy in the trade policy talks were Undersecretary of State George Ball, Howard Peterson, the President's trade policy adviser, and Theodore Sorensen, his special counsel.

McNamara, Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff; Budget Director David Bell, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Kennedy's military adviser, and McGeorge Bundy, presidential assistant for national security affairs, were listed for the defense budget conference.

McNamara, Lemnitzer, Taylor, Bundy and Stuart Pittman, assistant secretary of defense for civil defense, will go over civil defense matters with Kennedy. The emphasis is expected to be on fallout shelters.

Kennedy said at his last news conference, Nov. 8. "We are going to ask for additional funds for defense next year."

Defense spending during the present fiscal year now is estimated at $46.85 billion. This compares with the $42.9 billion originally proposed by the Eisenhower administration. This was revised last March to $43.8 billion, then raised again when the Berlin crisis developed last summer.

Kennedy, like millions of other Americans, took Thursday off from work to spend Thanksgiving relaxing and eating turkey at a big family reunion.

All told, 13 Kennedy adults and in-laws, and 15 of their offspring, including Caroline, gathered at the home of the President's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, for the holiday meal.

Rogers Area Driver Hurt

Car Hits Tree After Striking Guardrails

A 19-year-old Rogers area driver was injured early today near Fredericktown when his car swerved off a curve of Route 170, hit guardrails then a tree.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said Fred S. Needs of Rogers R. D. 1, headed north at 4 a. m., veered off a curve about 5.3 miles north of Route 30, and his 1959 sedan hit guardrails on the right side of the road then the tree.

He suffered abrasions and bruises of the head and arms and was treated at Salem City Hospital. The car was damaged extensively, and Needs was charged with reckless operation, officers said.

In an accident Thursday, Dianne Marie Gologram, 19, of Leetonia suffered abrasions of the body when her car, headed east on Route 14-A about two miles east of Salem, swerved off the road and overturned. She was treated at Salem City Hospital.

The patrol said holiday traffic picked up somewhat shortly after midnight Wednesday but was routine yesterday and today.

9 Hopper Cars Derailed

AT DERAILMENT SCENE. Wreck crews of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. had to postpone their turkey dinner Thursday after spending most of the day cleaning up the derailment of nine hopper-type cars of a 125-car east-bound freight between the state line and Smiths Ferry Rd. early yesterday. The batch of cars near the end of the train left the rails, tearing up about 200 feet of the east-bound tracks and shifting a long section of the west-bound tracks. Cranes from wreck crews of Conway and Mingo Junction are shown tugging upset cars from the ripped tracks. Some were loaded with limestone, others with slag and coal. The derailment occurred about 5:30 a. m. and service had been restored by 3 p. m. Freights were re-routed between Salem and Alliance during the cleanup. Cause of the wreck was not determined, nor was the damage estimated. None of the trainmen was hurt. The train was en route to Conway from Mingo Junction.

Glenn, Carpenter Prime Figures In Orbit Flight

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Lt. Col. John H. Glenn and Lt. Cmdr. Malcolm S. Carpenter are running neck-and-neck in the race for the job of prime astronaut in America's first manned orbital flight, informed sources said today.

Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard definitely is out of the race, the sources said. Shepard rode the first Redstone rocket on a 300-mile suborbital trip into the south Atlantic last May 5. Glenn was backup astronaut for Shepard and Capt. Gus Grissom on their suborbital flights.

The American Broadcasting Co. reported Thursday that Glenn had been designated as prime astronaut for the first manned orbital flight. The network said Carpenter had been chosen as backup astronaut.

Sources at Cape Canaveral said Robert R. Gilruth, Project Mercury director, is expected to name the prime astronaut and his backup following an expected launching next week of a chimpanzee in a three-orbit mission, unless the chimp shot is an outright failure.

The Federal Space Agency is urgently striving for a manned orbital shot before the end of this year.

Walter C. Williams, operations chief and associate director for Project Mercury, has indicated he wants the identity of the prime astronaut and his backup announced long before any orbital flight attempt is made.

"I personally want the one man named as the pilot with a backup," Williams said. "It's not my decision but that's my recommendation to Mr. Gilruth. That three-man pool named for the first Redstone turned into a merry-go-round."

Recount Upholds Win For Stratton Mayor

A recount completed late Wednesday night by the Jefferson County Election Board upheld Stratton Mayor Michael E. Misconish's victory in the Nov. 7 election.

Asked by Sam Abdalla, who opposed Misconish, the board's official count left unchanged Misconish's 22-vote margin. The Stratton mayor will begin his third two-year term on Jan. 1.

Motorist Held On Forgotten 1959 Charge

A surprised Wellsville man was haled before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today on a charge of driving while intoxicated dating back to Dec. 21, 1959.

The judge set a hearing Dec. 12 for Ernest Ware, 416 Buckeye Ave., defendant in the "forgotten" charge, and fixed his bond at $500.

"I didn't know anything about it until the Wellsville police chief stopped me on the way to work and told me I was to appear in court," Ware told the judge. The two-year-old arrest record and affidavit before the judge bore little information on the case, except that Ware's bond had been set at that time at $500, but it never has been posted. Ware was arrested by Patrolman Paul Carter, the affidavit showed.

"I believe you were injured in an accident and you went to the hospital," the judge told Ware.

"Yes, I was there for over two months," the defendant replied. He indicated a physician said he was not in condition to stand trial at the time of his release. The arrest occurred before Judge Chertoff took the bench Jan. 1, 1960, succeeding Judge George L. Brokaw.

Judge Chertoff entered a not guilty plea for Ware and continued the case to allow him to retain counsel if he wishes.

Fatalities on the nation's streets and highways mounted steadily today in the second day of the four-day Thanksgiving weekend.

Deaths in traffic totaled 164 since the count of holiday weekend fatalities started at 6 p.m., local time, Wednesday. Fires killed 16 and there were 19 deaths reported in miscellaneous mishaps.

Driving was made hazardous in some areas by rain although most of the country had fair weather.

The head-on crash of a truck and an automobile near Rochester, N.Y., accounted for four traffic fatalities.

Two firemen and a porter died in a fire that swept through a section of the Times Tower building in New York Wednesday night.

The 102-hour weekend ends at midnight Sunday.

The National Safety Council did not make an estimate of traffic fatalities for the period but the council said traffic deaths during a nonholiday, four-day weekend would total 450 at this time of the year.

A survey by The Associated Press made during a 102-hour nonholiday weekend showed 462 traffic deaths, 37 killed in fires and 106 fatalities in miscellaneous mishaps for an over-all total of 605.

The survey, made for comparative purposes, covered the period from 6 p.m., Wednesday, Nov. 8 to midnight, Sunday, Nov. 12.

During the 1960 Thanksgiving weekend, a four-day period, there were 442 traffic deaths, 51 killed in fires and 115 fatalities in miscellaneous mishaps for a total of 608.

Market Looted But Second 'Load' Saved

Burglars got away with a load of merchandise and a large quantity of cigarettes but apparently were frightened off before they could take a second load from Loblaw's Bradshaw Ave. supermarket early this morning.

Police said the management discovered the burglary when the store was opened this morning and an inventory was being taken to determine the loss.

The intruders, who sawed a window bar on the east side to gain entry, may have taken out one carton load of merchandise from the stamp section, and then returned. They had reloaded the carton and had moved it to the meat department but the arrival of a bread truck between 4 and 4:30 a.m. apparently caused them to flee empty-handed out the Minerva St. side, police were told.

King Saud Resting

BOSTON (AP)—King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia, under treatment for stomach ulcers, was reported resting comfortably today at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital.

LIGHTS WILL GO ON tonight on the community Christmas tree on the Diamond and in Yuletide decorations throughout the business district, signaling the start of a parade at 6 which will welcome Santa Claus to East Liverpool and mark the opening of the holiday season. Seven area high school bands will be featured in the procession on Walnut St., E. and W. 5th and 6th Sts. and Jackson Sts. Stores will remain open until 8:30 tonight.

Mobs Loot Properties Of Trujillos

Worst Riot Since Dictator Was Slain; Capital City Tense

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Tanks roared through the streets of the newly renamed Dominican capital and jet planes zoomed overhead Thursday night to break up mobs looting Trujillo-owned properties.

President Joaquin Balaguer proclaimed a dusk-to-dawn curfew after the most violent rioting since assassination removed Dictator Rafael L. Trujillo's iron control and started the nation on the heady path of liberty.

The troops cleared the streets of the capital and patrolled through the night amid fears of continuing new outbursts of vengeance against the Trujillos, all of whom have now fled the island.

The city — changed Thursday from Ciudad Trujillo to its ancient name of Santo Domingo by Congress—remained tense.

Explosions crackled throughout the night. But there were few persons on the streets and it appeared the bombs were set off by troops as a warning to vandals.

Tanks and Vampire jet planes were called out to put down the rioters. Soldier patrols removed all weapons and bullets from gun stores. The president blamed the violence on the Communists.

The ransacking of properties owned by the Trujillos, who ran this Caribbean nation as a private preserve for 31 years, came as the last members of the family fled into exile.

Among the last to leave was the late dictator's mother, Julia Molina Trujillo, 96. A hostile crowd at the airport fell silent as she was hoisted aboard a plane in a wheelchair for a flight to Miami.

The departure of the Trujillos left the island nation confused and wondering what next.

Balaguer in a nationwide broadcast declared: "A formula is urgent and indispensable to calm public unrest." But he was not specific.

W. H. Sponcer Quits Midland Council Post

W. F. Shovlin Is Appointed, Serving In Unexpired Term

Midland Borough Council Wednesday evening "regretfully" accepted the resignation of Councilman W. Harvey Sponcer and appointed William F. Shovlin to fill his unexpired term.

Council also accepted the resignation of Crum Dimeff as a member of the Borough Planning Commission and made acting police Sgt. George Tepovich permanent sergeant.

Sponcer was recently elected to a third term as councilman and Shovlin will be reappointed in January.

Sponcer works for Air Reduction Sales Co., which has transferred him to a large liquid plant at Riverton, N. J., effective Dec. 4. His Council resignation is effective Dec. 1 and he will leave Dec. 2.

Sponcer worked for the company at Pittsburgh before being transferred to Midland 23 years ago.

He served as a staff sergeant in both World War II and the Korean conflict. He has been active in the borough's volunteer fire department.

In his letter of resignation he said, "It was a great personal honor for me to be a member of this fine body for eight years. I will always feel Midland is my home and wish continued success to my fellow Council members."

Mayor Eli Corak said Sponcer

Officers Jail 2 For Thefts After Pursuit

Pair Obtains $101 At Service Station, Ambrose Grocery

Two men were arrested in a police chase early Thursday, 27 minutes after they stole $49 from an East End service station, and then admitted the $52 burglary of a neighborhood grocery on Ambrose Ave., police reported.

The suspects were identified as Seaman Gerald Blaschak of Lisbon R. D. 3, whom Naval authorities have listed as AWOL from a ship based in Norfolk, Va., and Floyd Leroy Beatty, formerly of East Liverpool, named in a Montgomery County (Md.) Police Department warrant for a $295 embezzlement at Bethesda, Md.

Police said Blaschak and Beatty admitted they broke into the Burgess Grocery at 1000 Ambrose Ave., operated by Mrs. Garvin Burgess, and took about $52 in pennies, then forced open the bottom of a cigarette vending machine at the Petrosol Service Station at Pennsylvania Ave. and Boyce St., obtaining $49 in change.

The pursuit began at 3:40 a. m. yesterday when police were advised of the theft at the service station. At 4:07, the two were in custody after police traced them to a taxi and halted the cab at Substation through the co-operation of the driver and the company dispatcher.

Five officers were involved in the investigation, the pursuit and the arrest — Lt. Clyde W. Boso and Patrolmen Paul Carter, Jack

Nearly 1.5 inches of rain fell in the Ohio Valley Thursday for one of the wettest Thanksgivings in years, but temperatures were relatively mild with a high of 53 for the holiday.

The Stratton Dam recorded the rain between 8:10 a. m. yesterday and 1 a. m. this morning.

The holiday was relatively quiet in the city with no accidents in traffic.

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff bought turkey dinners with all the trimmings for six prisoners in City Jail He said he doesn't know the total cost because he hasn't received the bill from the restaurant which prepared and served the meals.

Deaths Mar Observance

By The Associated Press

Two accidental deaths — one highway fatality and the death of a pedestrian struck by a train — marred West Virginia's observance of Thanksgiving, with the four-day holiday period less than half over.

The victims:

Frances C. Millikin, 56, of Wellsburg, killed early yesterday when the car she was driving failed to make a curve and smashed into a tree on W.Va. 88 near Wellsburg.

Bud Kenneth Meadows, 36, of Dunbar, hit and killed by a freight train while walking on the New York Central railroad tracks near his home early yesterday.

The Associated Press tabulation of fatalities in the holiday period began at 6 p. m. Wednesday and will continue through midnight Sunday.

A tragedy was narrowly averted yesterday afternoon when a Chesapeake & Ohio freight train struck a tractor-trailer at a crossing on W. Va. 17 near St. Albans. The impact sent the big truck careening into a compact car carrying three persons from Ohio.

Two men in the truck, both from North Carolina, and the three persons in the car were given emergency treatment at a South Charleston hospital and released.

They were identified as William Carter, 19, of Williamston, N.C., and Johnny Carter, 21, of Bell Cross, N. C., both in the truck, and Charles Allen, 37; his wife, Lucy, 30, and Irene Hodge, 34, all of Columbus.

A two-car collision on W. Va. 2 north of Sistersville critically injured Charles Longwell, 30, of near New Martinsville.

Longwell was alone in his car when it collided with an automobile occupied by James Munday, 25, of McAdoo, Pa., and Robert F. Hall, 26, of Lemoyne, Pa. Munday and Hall, not seriously hurt, were taken to a hospital in Wheeling.

Near Moundsville, five children sleeping in a house trailer escaped unhurt when the trailer caught fire. One of the children awoke and ran to a nearby house where the parents were staying and roused his father, Dr. S. R. Markey of Fostoria, Ohio. Markey rescued the other children.

Four persons were injured in a two-car collision on U.S. 119 near Charleston.

Scouts To Use Chester Dock

Permission for use of a floating dock along the Ohio River at the Chester City Park for a planned Sea Explorers group was authorized by the Park Commission at a meeting Wednesday night.

Charles Davis of California Ave., a neighborhood commissioner for the Columbiana Boy Scout Council's Cherokee District, outlined the plans for the new scout group to be sponsored by the National Church Supply Co.

The group, for boys 14 to 16, is being organized by Don Ramsey of East Liverpool, chairman of the district's organization and extension committee. Vern Jones of the firm is institutional representative.

Plans call for obtaining a surplus 36-foot Navy or Coast Guard boat. The commission granted permission for the dock, explaining that development plans for the pack call for a lagoon in the creek through the park for boating.

In other action, the commission approved plans for a public dinner to be held by the auxiliary of American Legion Post 121 in January for the benefit of the park and the volunteer firemen.

Harold Dickey, chairman, presided. Next meeting is Dec. 13.

Ohio Republicans Gain Points

After looking over the reports on what happened during last week's post-recess session of the Ohio General Assembly, we find it hard to avoid the conclusion Republicans gained some political points in the current budget contest.

Being highly articulate and enjoying, by virtue of his office, ample opportunities for telling his side of the story, Gov. DiSalle had created the impression that GOP legislative leaders turned their backs on pressing needs in mental hygiene, higher education and welfare.

He pictured them as penny-pinchers who had done devastating damage to Ohio's position in these fields by reducing appropriations far below minimum levels.

Last week's session did not dispel the penny-pinching image, but it did undercut the idea that Republican penny-pinching had resulted in irreparable setbacks for programs in which Ohioans of both political faiths are interested.

PRESIDENTS of the six state universities, for instance, testified before the House Finance Committee that they had no serious complaints against the appropriations originally voted for them by the lower chamber.

They freely discussed the faculty pay raises they were able to grant in the first year of the biennium. And they acknowledged that the $550,000 added to university appropriations in the new bill passed last week would bring their second - year totals back up to the original House levels.

They expressed fears that enrollments might jump so much next school year that per-pupil appropriations would decline, but granted their fears are based on estimates made a year or more in advance.

In short, $550,000 in additional money for the second year of the biennium apparently resolved immediate university problems under existing circumstances.

Before the same committee, Dr. Robert A. Haines, chief of the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction, said a proposal to release $2¼ million more for this biennium would allow him to return the mental health program to its peak level of last June and keep it there for the remainder of the biennium.

Gov. DiSalle challenged the method used — moving one payroll period into the next biennium — but again there was no argument that the maneuver would not take care of immediate problems in the program.

FROM THE political viewpoint, the Republicans were able to show that the governor's interpretation of the state's financial problems in the here and now were exaggerated.

And since the Republican viewpoint has been that Ohioans were not ready for new tax increases in this biennium, they seem to have gained points in the current fight.

This does not preclude the possibility that tax increases will be needed when the legislature next meets in regular session. Insofar as Gov. DiSalle's campaign has been an effort to get Ohioans to take a long-range view of their state programs, the debate has not been settled. He can be expected to continue pressing the point.

It is doubtful, however, that he will serve this cause by exaggerating the current situation.

The Republican leaders of the General Assembly said they thought it was time to hold the line, if only temporarily. They have done that.

It is hard to believe Ohio taxpayers will look upon them unkindly for it.

The Wall That Grew And Grew

Even in Berlin, where the monstrosity is viewed at close range, no one seems to know what to make of the latest frenzy for making the Wall stronger.

It is as though the Wall's erectors had drifted into the same isolationist insanity that gripped French militarists when they huddled behind their Maginot Line.

The French generals and their fortification designers began to think of the growth of the fortification as an end in itself, without asking what good The Maginot Line would do if Hitler ordered a "blitzkrieg." They lost their objectivity.

The Communist masters of East Germany and perhaps their Communist masters in Moscow may have lost their objectivity about the Wall that has come to symbolize their security in Berlin.

They had a sound reason for building this structure. They needed to stem the flow of East Germans to West Germany, via the open city of Berlin.

But it was assumed when they finally gave in to desperation and turned the open city into a divided city that they needed only a token Wall to stop the exodus of East Germans.

It was assumed that fortifications would not be necessary because, once the Wall was erected as a symbolic barrier, the Western Powers would respect it.

That assumption will have to be modified in the light of new evidence.

As far as danger of attack from West Berlin is concerned, the Wall would be adequate if it were no more than a white ribbon marking a boundary line.

The danger of attack causing the Wall to become a fortification instead of a boundary marker must come from inside East Germany, therefore. The Communist masters must have evidence that their Wall is about to be broached from the inside out. They must have reason to fear a "prison break."

This is something the addled men who tried to save France with a Wall never worried about, though they learned to their horror when the blitzkrieg began they should have worried about a one-way "Wall." Invading Germans easily went over, around and even through the Maginot Line, but the French guns could not be swung around to point behind, only ahead. The Magnot Line was conquered from the rear.

It's a safe bet the East German guns on the Wall can be pointed at East Germans as well as at West Germans.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

U. S. agents say counterfeit $1 bills are flooding New York and many cities. Bills are marked "Series of 1950." Likeness of Hamilton lacks shading and details, and treasury seal is blurred, agents say, and warn public: "Do not return such a bill to the passer. Delay him if possible and notify Secret Service or police. If passer leaves, take note of appearance. If he has car get number."

We tried to help but got nowhere. Man gave us a $10 bill in exchange for four $5s, which seemed fair enough at current values. Hamilton looked blurred, not the seal. "Maybe it's Abe Lincoln or Carl Sandburg" we thought.

How to delay the passer? Quick decision called for. Tried to ask passer what he thought of Berlin crisis. He kept moving even when we asked if he heard the one about traveling salesman and ballet dancer.

He started to cross street. We pointed to "Don't Walk" sign. He ignored us. We thought he got into auto on other side.

In our excitement we jotted down description of possible counterfeiter as "Medium height, 1950 model, red hair, prominent teeth, convertible, blue suit, white fenders." We tried to take number of car but marker was obscured by "DISNEYLAND," "LURRAY CAVERNS," "THOUSAND ISLANDS" etc.

Looked for cop. Finally found one. "Hamilton don't look official. . . . Treasury seal lacks detail. . . . Hamilton blurred. Or maybe it's other way around," we babbled.

"Take it easy. How long you been like this," said cop. "Guy was about 30 years old, 1955 model, eyes lacked shading, white-wall mustache, motor skipping," we went on. We had forgotten to show him the $10 bill. Waved it in face now and shounted "ten-dollar bill. No good."

"You're telling ME" exclaimed the cop. "I'm an inflation sufferer the same as you!"

(Moral: Never bother about anything less than a $50 bill these days. It has picture of U.S. Grant. No blurring. Hundred-dollar bills have Franklin. Without the kite. If you expect to do much shopping, take a thousand-dollar bill. We understand it has Grover Cleveland but if we ever got hold of one we wouldn't care if it had Groucho Marx or Casey Stengel. If it had Whitey Ford, but not Luis Arroyo, we would be more suspicious.

CASTRO IS REPORTED taking over all movie houses in Cuba. "Cigars, yes; buttered popcorn, no." If Cubans sleep during a double feature it will be under government auspices.

New dance, the "Twist" is sweeping the country and not a spinal vertebra is safe. Current replacement for "Shall we dance?" is "Shall we challenge the midway contortionists?"

Weird dance may owe popularity to natural flight to anything that will ease tenseness in troubled world. Everybody feels terribly tightened up by current problems, and "Twist" may be a welcome unbottled tranquilizer featured by rush to dance hall instead of drug store.

Department store advertises a special "Twist" costume, consisting largely of slacks with fringe all over. Dance will mean business boom for chiropractors performing in traditional costumes with no fringe and with firm advice "Come back next week. Your spine is badly out of joint, especially in the lumbar region."

All levels of society are going for the "Twist," let the hips fall where they may. Any dance hall can look like an athletic convention of refugees from a four-to-one martini cocktail party on a revolving floor. Even the conversations are twisted up.

The influence is being felt in the home where it is difficult to tell whether teenagers have St. Vitus dance, juvenile delirium tremens or youthful vitality.

It comes as no surprise if dad and mother appear to have the shakes at dinner and grandma comes to table with both hips on a binge. It doesn't seem too normal. Could it be the first effect of megaton "fall-out" on humans?

Doctors Launch Political Group

By Victor Riesel

CHICAGO

I have been trying to get the inside story of the infiltration into control of hospitals by the mob which operates grimy strip-tease joints here. But I gave that up temporarily after moving about in medical circles. I've run into a truly fascinating development far more worth reporting at the moment.

Victor Riesel

The doctors of the land have launched a formal political action organization which may yet rival the AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education.

The physicians call it the AMPAC—the American Medical Political Action Committee. It hopes to enroll every one of the 226,225 medicos who were on the register at the last count.

Over in a modest office in Suite 412 at 520 North Michigan Ave. you can see the "machine" at work.

They are serious. They are nonpartisan. They have a potential of a million political workers—since membership is open to all doctors and their families, adult members only. Suite 412 is the national headquarters, separate from the American Medical Association which helps support it.

ITS LEADERS say that it wants to have impact on Congress and the White House. And since impact takes influence and influence springs from political strength, they have gone into the business of building a formal political machine.

They plan to ring doorbells, bring out the vote, get out the registration, distribute the records of congressmen on medical proposals and on such controversies as medical aid to the aged through a social security tax —which they oppose.

They cannot operate precinct political action through the American Medical Association, which is organized on a state and regional basis. But they can set up parallel committees in the same areas.

This is exactly what they have been doing since last July, when the AMA approved AMPAC's launching. It's leadership is made up of an executive board of seven persons—six of whom must be doctors and the seventh a lady from the AMA Women's Auxiliary. AMPAC's president is Dr. Gunnar Gundersen, former AMA president, of La Crosse, Wisc.

IN SUITE 412 is a political action director called Jo Miller and his activities are far from a joke. His is a national organization.

Only last week the medical societies of the 8 north central states had an organization meeting and set up regional AMPACs. These will be grooved in with such units as EMPAC—the Empire Medical Political Action Committee of New York.

There are operating units in California, Washington, Oregon, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana and Pennsylvania as well. Just what the national strength is can't be estimated until the AMPAC board of directors meets in Denver at the end of the month.

"We have," said one board member to me, "frequently been ignored by holders of public office because they felt we had no voting strength. Doctors all over the country now are very much interested.

"We're not concerned with the party label of a legislator as long as he's for free enterprise and I suppose what you might call conservatism. We have not started to raise funds. We're still organizing. Everybody else is."

WHAT DO THEY stand for?

"To promote and strive for the improvement of government by encouraging and stimulating physicians and others to take a more active and effective part in governmental affairs.

"To educate physicians and others as to the nature and actions of their government, as to important political issues, and as to the records and positions of political parties, office holders and candidates for elective office.

"To assist physicians and others in organizing themselves for more effective political action and in carrying out their civic responsibilities.

"To do any and all things necessary or desirable for the attainment of the above."

AMPAC will not please the labor people who once launched the original PAC and the Citizens PAC. But action gets counter action.

It will all help to bring out the vote. Then we'll really discover just whom the people want. The more action the better.

Letters To The Editor

To all the Robert Brozozwskies, I would like to say I felt sick inside before I read the Ann Landers' column you referred to. Much of the sickness is because of hearing people say "What's the matter with people?" and "What's this country coming to?" in one breath, and then in the next breath they swear and curse and run everyone with good intentions down because they have different views.

When a man uses your kind of language and is filled with hate and vengence he is of no use in bringing peace to the world. It is still true that "the pen is mightier than the sword" and a "cool hand turneth away wrath." Ann Landers humble opinion will stir up more good than your hot temper.

The world is reaping the harvest of sin we've been sowing. You can't expect things to right themselves over night when we have gone after so many other gods and really been living it up in sin for so many years.

Please sit down and read Leviticus Chapter 26 and see what happens to a nation who breaks covenant with God. We have broken it over and over. Leaf through the Bible for names like Cain, Achan, Esau, Amalek, Judas and other who were in a sense, leaders in their days as our Communists are today. They keep changing the names but each generation produces the same type. How far they get is determined by the actions and watchfulness of Christian people. We were so busy we never saw them, while we were after pleasure, a social standing and materialism.

There is no shelter man can make to escape this kind of madness. It says in Isaiah we will flee from the noise and fall into the pit and those that escape the pit will be caught in the snare.

None of the articles give the impression that there will be more than one blast. They all give information on what to do in case of one — not another and another. Why? This is not a matter of a juvenile delinquent with a pop gun.

Yes it is sad but true America has become a nation of rifleman and our faith is in the bullet. Those that live by the sword died by the sword. You take your gun and hide it. I'll take my Bible and live day by day working my way for peace with Ann Landers.

The city income tax has been voted out several times, which shows that the majority of the people don't want it.

In last Tuesday's Review, I read where Fred Kane suggested to Council about putting the tax back on. If he, like some of the others who think we should have the tax back on, let them donate their share of the tax they would pay if it were not defeated. I don't think any one would object and the city would appreciate it very much.

3 Republicans Won't Admit Ambition

WASHINGTON

The very best chemical for dissolving a politician's reluctance to run is enough support to give him a hope, but not necessarily a belief, he could win if he tried.

The most reluctant ones sometimes act like a tall man who wears a 10-gallon hat to be inconspicious.

None of the Republican trio most mentioned now as likely prospects for the GOP presidential nomination in 1964—Nixon, Rockefeller, Goldwater—is admitting any ambition for it.

This might be more wisdom than reluctance for at least two of them: former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

Their 1964 chances will depend on how they make out in 1962 when Nixon runs for the governorship of California and Rockefeller tries for re-election in his state. Besides, if President Kennedy runs again and looks unbeatable, the 1968 presidential race might look attractive when Kennedy, under the constitution, could not seek a third term.

Nixon and Arizona's Sen. Barry Goldwater have said they don't want the 1964 presidential nomination. Rockefeller just hasn't said.

But none of them shows any intention of being overlooked or out of sight—if he can help it—before the 1964 nominating starts.

Nixon's been making speeches and statements and writing newspaper articles. Goldwater has been extremely busy denouncing the Kennedy administration. And Rockefeller sticks his opinion into national affairs.

The very best way for Nixon and Rockefeller to stay in the public consciousness is to win their governorship races next year. They could also line up state delegations for themselves in the 1964 convention.

If either loses the governorship, he becomes overnight a political dead duck. Nixon has a tough fight in California. A big unknown for Rockefeller is whether his impending divorce will hurt him.

Goldwater looks the surest of the three to remain a national figure until 1964 and perhaps until and beyond 1968, too. His present Senate term does not end until 1964.

If he sees no chance of a presidential nomination that year he can run for the Senate again. He probably has a good chance to win. If he does, he will be in the national eye for another six years after that.

It's questionable the Republican party—even if Nixon and Rockefeller were out of the picture—would pick Goldwater as its presidential candidate. He's on the far right at a time when the country as a whole and the head of the Republican party—former President Eisenhower — are like Nixon and Rockefeller standing in the middle aisle.

Even if Nixon and Rockefeller won their governorships—but for some reason did not seek or get the presidential nomination in 1964—they would have a critical problem in trying to wait for it until 1968.

In both cases the governorship runs four years. That would put them on the sidelines in 1966 unless they sought and won re-election or found some other way of staying afloat until 1968.

Still, all three men are young enough to wait another seven years if they have to.

Nixon, now 48, is younger than Rockefeller or Goldwater. He will be 51 in 1964 and 55 in 1968. Rockefeller, now 53, will be 56 in 1964 and 60 in 1968. Goldwater, now 52, will be 55 in 1964 and 59 in 1968.

Balanced Budget?

By Raymond Moley

There were raised eyebrows from coast to coast at President Kennedy's prediction of a balanced budget in the fiscal year ending in June 1963, in the light of a predicted $6.8 billion deficit in June 1962.

Those who doubt the prediction of a balanced budget point to the certainty of little or no drop in federal expenditures. For, they say, with the facts on their side, the obligations already incurred for continuing programs plus new schemes which may be enacted in 1962 foreclose any relief from spending.

The administration apologists, on the other hand, cling to the idea, so urgently presented in the Kennedy campaign speeches last year, that a large jump in the gross national product will provide more to tax.

Both of these positions have a modicum of truth on their side, but neither takes account of what lies at the root of this contrast between a pessimistic outlook for this year and such optimistic expectations next year.

THE EXPECTED RISE in government revenues with the same tax rates cannot be achieved by a relatively small increase in the GNP. For the claim that the rise in that figure — from the average of the Eisenhower years to something like 5 per cent — can come from increased federal spending is spurious.

The increase in revenues comes from another factor, which is only now coming to be recognized by the Bureau of the Budget. It raises from the nature of the progressive rates in the income tax.

With business activity rising at only a small rate, there will be a relatively larger rise in federal revenues. Some will come from the increased profits of corporations, which are generally taxable at 52 per cent. More will come, however, from individual income taxes.

In the taxing of individual incomes, a small rise in business activity will produce not a straight line of increase commensurate with the rise in the GNP, but a sharply rising curve. People make a little more, but the federal government takes a relatively larger bite.

Thus, if you are a married man now making a personal income which puts your top bracket at, say, 30 per cent, an increase in income will put you into the brackets of 34 or 38 or 43 per cent.

This explains why a sizable jump in federal revenues is anticipated by the President and his Budget Bureau in fiscal 1963.

Back in the Truman administration, this factor showed itself in a most sensational way. There were years then when the estimate in income in the President's budget in January had to be raised three or four times in the succeeding months.

AT THAT TIME it was apparent that the Budget Bureau failed to calculate the larger government take as incomes rose only at a mild rate.

Now, apparently, that factor is taken into consideration. Hence the President's optimism.

But the whole calculation is based upon increased business and on consumer's confidence. And that will depend almost entirely on what the Kennedy administration is able to accomplish in convincing investors that it is not really anti-business.

The members of the Cabinet who have been sent over the country to make speeches seem to have been instructed to pipe down on all anti-business talk. But many, if not most, businessmen believe that this administration is really not friendly to business management.

A REAL TEST of sincerity will come when Attorney General Robert Kennedy makes a scheduled speech before the New York Economic Club in December. If the crucial half hour alloted to that young man, there will be the possibility of sustaining and improving business confidence or of dashing much of the present hope for better times next year.

What the secretaries of this or that may say in their present round of speeches will be taken with great reservations. But not only is the attorney general the President's brother and closest collaborator, but his Department of Justice has the power to determine whether business will or will not have the freedom essential to greater activity in years to come.

Robert's words and actions will be the test of the President's concern about business confidence. Close watchers of economic trends, both in the United States and in Europe, are disposed to wait and see.

The danger of attack causing the Wall to become a fortification instead of a boundary marker must come from inside East Germany, therefore. The Communist masters must have evidence that their Wall is about to be broached from the inside out. They must have reason to fear a "prison break."

This is something the addled men who tried to save France with a Wall never worried about, though they learned to their horror when the blitzkrieg began they should have worried about a one-way "Wall." Invading Germans easily went over, around and even through the Maginot Line, but the French guns could not be swung around to point behind, only ahead. The Magnot Line was conquered from the rear.

It's a safe bet the East German guns on the Wall can be pointed at East Germans as well as at West Germans.

The Once Over

U. S. agents say counterfeit $1 bills are flooding New York and many cities. Bills are marked "Series of 1950." Likeness of Hamilton lacks shading and details, and treasury seal is blurred, agents say, and warn public: "Do not return such a bill to the passer. Delay him if possible and notify Secret Service or police. If passer leaves, take note of appearance. If he has car get number."

We tried to help but got nowhere. Man gave us a $10 bill in exchange for four $5s, which seemed fair enough at current values. Hamilton looked blurred, not the seal. "Maybe it's Abe Lincoln or Carl Sandburg" we thought.

How to delay the passer? Quick decision called for. Tried to ask passer what he thought of Berlin crisis. He kept moving even when we asked if he heard the one about traveling salesman and ballet dancer.

He started to cross street. We pointed to "Don't Walk" sign. He ignored us. We thought he got into auto on other side.

In our excitement we jotted down description of possible counterfeiter as "Medium height, 1950 model, red hair, prominent teeth, convertible, blue suit, white fenders." We tried to take number of car but marker was obscured by "DISNEYLAND," "LURRAY CAVERNS," "THOUSAND ISLANDS" etc.

Looked for cop. Finally found one. "Hamilton don't look official. . . . Treasury seal lacks detail. . . . Hamilton blurred. Or maybe it's other way around," we babbled.

"Take it easy. How long you been like this," said cop. "Guy was about 30 years old, 1955 model, eyes lacked shading, whitewall mustache, motor skipping," we went on. We had forgotten to show him the $10 bill. Waved it in face now and shounted "ten-dollar bill. No good."

"You're telling ME" exclaimed the cop. "I'm an inflation sufferer the same as you!"

(Moral: Never bother about anything less than a $50 bill these days. It has picture of U.S. Grant. No blurring. Hundred-dollar bills have Franklin. Without the kite. If you expect to do much shopping, take a thousand-dollar bill. We understand it has Grover Cleveland but if we ever got hold of one we wouldn't care if it had Groucho Marx or Casey Stengel. If it had Whitey Ford, but not Luis Arroyo, we would be more suspicious.

New dance, the "Twist" is sweeping the country and not a spinal vertebra is safe. Current replacement for "Shall we dance?" is "Shall we challenge the midway contortionists?"

Weird dance may owe popularity to natural flight to anything that will ease tenseness in troubled world. Everybody feels terribly tightened up by current problems, and "Twist" may be a welcome unbottled tranquilizer featured by rush to dance hall instead of drug store.

Department store advertises a special "Twist" costume, consisting largely of slacks with fringe all over. Dance will mean business boom for chiropractors performing in traditional costumes with no fringe and with firm advice "Come back next week. Your spine is badly out of joint, especially in the lumbar region."

All levels of society are going for the "Twist," let the hips fall where they may. Any dance hall can look like an athletic convention of refugees from a four-to-one martini cocktail party on a revolving floor. Even the conversations are twisted up.

The influence is being felt in the home where it is difficult to tell whether teenagers have St. Vitus dance, juvenile delirium tremens or youthful vitality.

It comes as no surprise if dad and mother appear to have the shakes at dinner and grandma comes to table with both hips on a binge. It doesn't seem too normal. Could it be the first effect of megaton "fall-out" on humans?

Doctors Launch Political Group

By Victor Riesel

CHICAGO

I have been trying to get the inside story of the infiltration into control of hospitals by the mob which operates grimy strip-tease joints here. But I gave that up temporarily after moving about in medical circles. I've run into a truly fascinating development far more worth reporting at the moment.

Victor Riesel

The doctors of the land have launched a formal political action organization which may yet rival the AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education.

The physicians call it the AMPAC—the American Medical Political Action Committee. It hopes to enroll every one of the 226,225 medicos who were on the register at the last count.

Over in a modest office in Suite 412 at 520 North Michigan Ave. you can see the "machine" at work.

They are serious. They are nonpartisan. They have a potential of a million political workers—since membership is open to all doctors and their families, adult members only. Suite 412 is the national headquarters, separate from the American Medical Association which helps support it.

ITS LEADERS say that it wants to have impact on Congress and the White House. And since impact takes influence and influence springs from political strength, they have gone into the business of building a formal political machine.

They plan to ring doorbells, bring out the vote, get out the registration, distribute the records of congressmen on medical proposals and on such controversies as medical aid to the aged through a social security tax —which they oppose.

They cannot operate precinct political action through the American Medical Association, which is organized on a state and regional basis. But they can set up parallel committees in the same areas.

This is exactly what they have been doing since last July, when the AMA approved AMPAC's launching. It's leadership is made up of an executive board of seven persons—six of whom must be doctors and the seventh a lady from the AMA Women's Auxiliary. AMPAC's president is Dr. Gunnar Gundersen, former AMA president, of La Crosse, Wisc.

IN SUITE 412 is a political action director called Jo Miller and his activities are far from a joke. His is a national organization.

Only last week the medical societies of the 8 north central states had an organization meeting and set up regional AMPACs. These will be grooved in with such units as EMPAC—the Empire Medical Political Action Committee of New York.

There are operating units in California, Washington, Oregon, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana and Pennsylvania as well. Just what the national strength is can't be estimated until the AMPAC board of directors meets in Denver at the end of the month.

"We have," said one board member to me, "frequently been ignored by holders of public office because they felt we had no voting strength. Doctors all over the country now are very much interested.

"We're not concerned with the party label of a legislator as long as he's for free enterprise and I suppose what you might call conservatism. We have not started to raise funds. We're still organizing. Everybody else is."

WHAT DO THEY stand for?

"To promote and strive for the improvement of government by encouraging and stimulating physicians and others to take a more active and effective part in governmental affairs.

"To educate physicians and others as to the nature and actions of their government, as to important political issues, and as to the records and positions of political parties, office holders and candidates for elective office.

"To assist physicians and others in organizing themselves for more effective political action and in carrying out their civic responsibilities.

"To do any and all things necessary or desirable for the attainment of the above."

AMPAC will not please the labor people who once launched the original PAC and the Citizens PAC. But action gets counter action.

It will all help to bring out the vote. Then we'll really discover just whom the people want. The more action the better.

Letters To The Editor

To all the Robert Brozozwskies, I would like to say I felt sick inside before I read the Ann Landers' column you referred to. Much of the sickness is because of hearing people say "What's the matter with people?" and "What's this country coming to?" in one breath, and then in the next breath they swear and curse and run everyone with good intentions down because they have different views.

When a man uses your kind of language and is filled with hate and vengence he is of no use in bringing peace to the world. It is still true that "the pen is mightier than the sword" and a "cool hand turneth away wrath." Ann Landers humble opinion will stir up more good than your hot temper.

The world is reaping the harvest of sin we've been sowing. You can't expect things to right themselves over night when we have gone after so many other gods and really been living it up in sin for so many years.

Please sit down and read Leviticus Chapter 26 and see what happens to a nation who breaks covenant with God. We have broken it over and over. Leaf through the Bible for names like Cain, Achan, Esau, Amalek, Judas and other who were in a sense, leaders in their days as our Communists are today. They keep changing the names but each generation produces the same type. How far they get is determined by the actions and watchfulness of Christian people. We were so busy we never saw them, while we were after pleasure, a social standing and materialism.

There is no shelter man can make to escape this kind of madness. It says in Isaiah we will flee from the noise and fall into the pit and those that escape the pit will be caught in the snare.

None of the articles give the impression that there will be more than one blast. They all give information on what to do in case of one — not another and another. Why? This is not a matter of a juvenile delinquent with a pop gun.

Yes it is sad but true America has become a nation of rifleman and our faith is in the bullet. Those that live by the sword died by the sword. You take your gun and hide it. I'll take my Bible and live day by day working my way for peace with Ann Landers.

The city income tax has been voted out several times, which shows that the majority of the people don't want it.

In last Tuesday's Review, I read where Fred Kane suggested to Council about putting the tax back on. If he, like some of the others who think we should have the tax back on, let them donate their share of the tax they would pay if it were not defeated. I don't think any one would object and the city would appreciate it very much.

3 Republicans Won't Admit Ambition

WASHINGTON

The very best chemical for dissolving a politician's reluctance to run is enough support to give him a hope, but not necessarily a belief, he could win if he tried.

The most reluctant ones sometimes act like a tall man who wears a 10-gallon hat to be inconspicious.

None of the Republican trio most mentioned now as likely prospects for the GOP presidential nomination in 1964—Nixon, Rockefeller, Goldwater—is admitting any ambition for it.

This might be more wisdom than reluctance for at least two of them: former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

Their 1964 chances will depend on how they make out in 1962 when Nixon runs for the governorship of California and Rockefeller tries for re-election in his state. Besides, if President Kennedy runs again and looks unbeatable, the 1968 presidential race might look attractive when Kennedy, under the constitution, could not seek a third term.

Nixon and Arizona's Sen. Barry Goldwater have said they don't want the 1964 presidential nomination. Rockefeller just hasn't said.

But none of them shows any intention of being overlooked or out of sight—if he can help it—before the 1964 nominating starts.

Nixon's been making speeches and statements and writing newspaper articles. Goldwater has been extremely busy denouncing the Kennedy administration. And Rockefeller sticks his opinion into national affairs.

The very best way for Nixon and Rockefeller to stay in the public consciousness is to win their governorship races next year. They could also line up state delegations for themselves in the 1964 convention.

If either loses the governorship, he becomes overnight a political dead duck. Nixon has a tough fight in California. A big unknown for Rockefeller is whether his impending divorce will hurt him.

Goldwater looks the surest of the three to remain a national figure until 1964 and perhaps until and beyond 1968, too. His present Senate term does not end until 1964.

If he sees no chance of a presidential nomination that year he can run for the Senate again. He probably has a good chance to win. If he does, he will be in the national eye for another six years after that.

It's questionable the Republican party—even if Nixon and Rockefeller were out of the picture—would pick Goldwater as its presidential candidate. He's on the far right at a time when the country as a whole and the head of the Republican party—former President Eisenhower — are like Nixon and Rockefeller standing in the middle aisle.

Even if Nixon and Rockefeller won their governorships—but for some reason did not seek or get the presidential nomination in 1964—they would have a critical problem in trying to wait for it until 1968.

In both cases the governorship runs four years. That would put them on the sidelines in 1966 unless they sought and won re-election or found some other way of staying afloat until 1968.

Still, all three men are young enough to wait another seven years if they have to.

Nixon, now 48, is younger than Rockefeller or Goldwater. He will be 51 in 1964 and 55 in 1968. Rockefeller, now 53, will be 56 in 1964 and 60 in 1968. Goldwater, now 52, will be 55 in 1964 and 59 in 1968.

Balanced Budget?

By Raymond Moley

There were raised eyebrows from coast to coast at President Kennedy's prediction of a balanced budget in the fiscal year ending in June 1963, in the light of a predicted $6.8 billion deficit in June 1962.

Those who doubt the prediction of a balanced budget point to the certainty of little or no drop in federal expenditures. For, they say, with the facts on their side, the obligations already incurred for continuing programs plus new schemes which may be enacted in 1962 foreclose any relief from spending.

The administration apologists, on the other hand, cling to the idea, so urgently presented in the Kennedy campaign speeches last year, that a large jump in the gross national product will provide more to tax.

Both of these positions have a modicum of truth on their side, but neither takes account of what lies at the root of this contrast between a pessimistic outlook for this year and such optimistic expectations next year.

THE EXPECTED RISE in government revenues with the same tax rates cannot be achieved by a relatively small increase in the GNP. For the claim that the rise in that figure — from the average of the Eisenhower years to something like 5 per cent — can come from increased federal spending is spurious.

The increase in revenues comes from another factor, which is only now coming to be recognized by the Bureau of the Budget. It raises from the nature of the progressive rates in the income tax.

With business activity rising at only a small rate, there will be a relatively larger rise in federal revenues. Some will come from the increased profits of corporations, which are generally taxable at 52 per cent. More will come, however, from individual income taxes.

In the taxing of individual incomes, a small rise in business activity will produce not a straight line of increase commensurate with the rise in the GNP, but a sharply rising curve. People make a little more, but the federal government takes a relatively larger bite.

Thus, if you are a married man now making a personal income which puts your top bracket at, say, 30 per cent, an increase in income will put you into the brackets of 34 or 38 or 43 per cent.

This explains why a sizable jump in federal revenues is anticipated by the President and his Budget Bureau in fiscal 1963.

Back in the Truman administration, this factor showed itself in a most sensational way. There were years then when the estimate in income in the President's budget in January had to be raised three or four times in the succeeding months.

AT THAT TIME it was apparent that the Budget Bureau failed to calculate the larger government take as incomes rose only at a mild rate.

Now, apparently, that factor is taken into consideration. Hence the President's optimism.

But the whole calculation is based upon increased business and on consumer's confidence. And that will depend almost entirely on what the Kennedy administration is able to accomplish in convincing investors that it is not really anti-business.

The members of the Cabinet who have been sent over the country to make speeches seem to have been instructed to pipe down on all anti-business talk. But many, if not most, businessmen believe that this administration is really not friendly to business management.

A REAL TEST of sincerity will come when Attorney General Robert Kennedy makes a scheduled speech before the New York Economic Club in December. If the crucial half hour alloted to that young man, there will be the possibility of sustaining and improving business confidence or of dashing much of the present hope for better times next year.

What the secretaries of this or that may say in their present round of speeches will be taken with great reservations. But not only is the attorney general the President's brother and closest collaborator, but his Department of Justice has the power to determine whether business will or will not have the freedom essential to greater activity in years to come.

Robert's words and actions will be the test of the President's concern about business confidence. Close watchers of economic trends, both in the United States and in Europe, are disposed to wait and see.

5 Are Killed, 2 Missing In Plane Crash

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — An Air Force transport carrying 10 men crashed and burned 17 miles south of Whitehorse Thursday. Five men died, two are missing and three parachuted safely.

The pilot was trying to nurse the crippled plane to Whitehorse, where he had taken off moments before. He reported an emergency but did not say what it was.

Motorists on the Alaska Highway watched the plane circle and then head back toward Whitehorse, in Yukon Territory.

It was reported to have crashed in deep snow at the base of a mountain. Temperatures in the area were down around zero.

A transport carried a helicopter from Elmendorf to Whitehorse to use in the search for the missing men. Five parachutes were seen drifting down.

A para-rescue team also was sent from Elmendorf to help in the search.

The three survivors were hospitalized but two were released after a checkup. They were S.Sgt. Leroy Cotton and A.1.C. J. R. Conklin. S.Sgt. Clyde L. Nicholas was held in the Whitehorse hospital for treatment of shock and bruises.

The transport was one of several which took off from Elmendorf during the day to carry reservists back to their homes. It was based at Ellington Air Force Base, Houston, Tex.

The reservists had been on cative duty in joint Air Force-Army maneuvers at Kodiak.

13 Are Shaken Up As Plane Skids Off Runway

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (AP)—A DC3 airliner on its way to Columbus, Ohio, skidded off a runway and dropped 10 feet down a small embankment in landing at the Morgantown Airport Thursday. The 13 persons aboard were shaken up but none was injured more than slightly.

The twin - engine plane, Lake Central Airlines Flight 467 from Washington, D.C., went off the side of the runway near its end. The nose and propellers struck earth and rock where grading is under way for another runway.

The plane was scheduled to stop here, then at Wheeling, WVa., and Zanesville, Ohio, before arriving at Columbus. But the 10 passengers (the other three aboard were crew) completed their tourney by other means. They were taken by limousine to Wheeling or Pittsburgh to catch other flights.

He is survived by his widow and three sisters. Funeral services and burial are scheduled for Monday in Hagerstown.

Cardinal Tells Story Of Kennedy Inaugural

WASHINGTON (AP)— Remember the smoke that curled from the lectern while Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston delivered the invocation at President Kennedy's inaugural last January?

"That was the devil asking for equal time," a letter-writer suggested to the cardinal later. The Boston archbishop told the story in remarks prefacing his sermon at the annual Pan-American Mass here Thursday.

He said most people who commented on the invocation thought it was too long. It ran more than 10 minutes.

Four clergymen participated in the inaugural. "I thought I was the only one," said the cardinal. "Why they had to have four of us there praying for him, I don't know."

13 Are Shaken Up As Plane Skids Off Runway

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (AP)—A DC3 airliner on its way to Columbus, Ohio, skidded off a runway and dropped 10 feet down a small embankment in landing at the Morgantown Airport Thursday. The 13 persons aboard were shaken up but none was injured more than slightly.

The plane was scheduled to stop here, then at Wheeling, WVa., and Zanesville, Ohio, before arriving at Columbus. But the 10 passengers (the other three aboard were crew) completed their tourney by other means. They were taken by limousine to Wheeling or Pittsburgh to catch other flights.

Cardinal Tells Story Of Kennedy Inaugural

WASHINGTON (AP)— Remember the smoke that curled from the lectern while Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston delivered the invocation at President Kennedy's inaugural last January?

He said most people who commented on the invocation thought it was too long. It ran more than 10 minutes.

Four clergymen participated in the inaugural. "I thought I was the only one," said the cardinal. "Why they had to have four of us there praying for him, I don't know."

Girl In Ship Tragedy Will Live With An Aunt

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Terry Jo Duperrault, who lost her parents, brother and sister in the Bluebelle tragedy, could look forward today to returning to familiar Green Bay, Wis. scenes for a while.

The administrator of her parents' estate said the pretty blonde 11-year-old probably would go to live with an aunt, Mrs. Ralph Scheer, at the Green Bay suburb of Depere until a court names a guardian.

Atty. Colburn C. Cherney said Terry Jo herself "will have something to say as far as the appointment of a guardian is concerned."

Mrs. Scheer spent Thanksgiving Day with Terry Jo in the Miami hospital room where the child is recuperating from exposure and exhaustion she suffered in 3½ days adrift on a life raft in tropic waters.

It was a glum holiday for Terry Jo. Her physician said she was "down in the dumps" on her first Thanksgiving Day as an orphan.

There was no word on when Terry Jo will be discharged from the hospital.

Dr. Arthur Dupperault, 49, a Green Bay optometrist; his wife, Jean, 38; their son, Brian, 14, and daughter, Renee, 8; and Mary Harvey, 34, were lost Nov. 12 in the mysterious sinking of the Fort Lauderdale ketch Bluebelle which the Dupperaults had chartered for a Bahamas vacation sail.

Mrs. Harvey's husband, Julian, 44, captain of the yacht, was rescued from a small boat Nov. 13 and came to Miami. He committed suicide less than 24 hours after hearing that Terry Jo, who had managed to launch a life raft, also had been found alive.

Harvey had told Coast Guard investigators that a squall broke the masts of the Bluebelle and knocked a hole in her hull, and that all on board jumped into the Atlantic Ocean when fire broke out. Terry Jo said the masts did not topple, she saw no fire and smelled no smoke, but did see her mother and brother lying motionless on a bloody deck.

Man's Life 'Saved' When Hit By Auto

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — "Thank God that car hit me," said Edward Adams as he convalesced from internal injuries.

Adams' pelvis was fractured and his spleen was ruptured when an automobile knocked him down Wednesday night.

Repairing the damage, surgeons discovered and removed an abdominal tumor which they said would have killed Adams eventually.

set a precedent as one of the few to be elected to three successive terms and is "a real credit to good government." Steve Germusa, Council president, expressed regrets on behalf of members.

Shovlin, Democratic borough auditor for two years of a six-year term, resigned that post Wednesday night to accept the Council position.

He is 30 and resides at 757 Ohio Ave. with his wife, Salwa, and three children. He has been the Midland agent for the Washington National Insurance Co. for five years and previously five years at the Midland plant of the Crucible Steel Co.

He is a Midland native and was graduated from Lincoln High School in 1949. He served two years in the Army during the Korean conflict and is a member of the Presentation Catholic Church and Knights of Columbus Council 2005.

Dimeff, a Midland grocer, resigned as a member of the Planning Commission as of last Oct. 1. He was its secretary. In his letter of resignation, he said that he could not give the necessary time and effort to the commission. Council said it will notify the commission of the vacancy.

Corak told Council that the Beaver County commissioners have learned that the Greyhound Bus Lines plans to terminate its service between East Liverpool and Pittsburgh.

Council agreed to send a resolution to the Public Utility Commission, supporting the Beaver Valley Motor Coach Co. of New Brighton in its bid to take over the route.

Corak said David Figley of the bus firm requested the letter of assistance and plans to improve the service. Corak said he does not know the date of termination of service by Greyhuond.

Mrs. C. K. O'Hara, borough secretary, read a letter of appreciation from the Chamber of Commerce for recent action of Council to have new mercury type lights installed on Midland Ave., slated after the first of the year.

Anthony Russ of 7th St., an apartment owner, asked Council if the new sewage rates set by the Municipal Authority apply to empty apartments.

Atty. Robert Masters, borough solicitor and also solicitor for the authority, said there will be no charge if the apartments are not occupied.

R. E. Steebner, borough engineer, reported the new sewage treatment plant should be ready for state approval before mid-December.

He said work on curbs on Midland Ave. will begin soon. Asked as to when new trees will be planted in the borough, he said the contractor has ordered them and expects to plant soon.

Council granted Anthony Sorge, 1235 Center St., Wellsville, permission to cut curbing for a driveway at a new home at 1025 Delaware Ave., Midland, under supervision of Steebner.

Council approved payments of bills of Paul J. Muschweck of Beaver R.D. 1 for tree service amounting to $36, and that of Mike Keser of Midland for work on curbs, amounting to $362.90.

LISBON — The State Supreme Court action of the late Mrs. Edna Helman for collection of her salary as a county employe will continue with her administrator acting in her behalf, Prosecutor G. William Brokaw said.

The case was scheduled Nov. 15 but she died, raising the question whether the administrator, Atty. Charles Pike, could act.

The case was scheduled Nov. 15 but she died, raising the question whether the administrator, Atty. Charles Pike, could act.

The mandamus action on behalf of the Republican appointee is against James T. Welch, director of the State Department of Personnel, to force him to approve the county commissioners' payroll, which now would be for the benefit of her estate. Three other Republican appointees would benefit if the court grants the mandamus.

Welch feels that the Democratic appointees replaced by the Republicans were in the "classified civil service of the state of Ohio" and could not legally have been fired.

Neither the Republicans or the Democrats have been paid since February as the state would not approve the Republican payroll and Commissioner Walter Hunston would not approve the Democrat payroll. Prosecutor Brokaw took the action directly to the Supreme Court.

Another action is pending in the Supreme Court for the four Democratic employes but no date has been set for that hearing. Nor has a date been reset for the Republican case, Brokaw said.

Salvation Army's Yule Kettles To Be Out Saturday

With the downtown Christmas decorations up, only one more reminder remains of the Yule season — the traditional kettles of the Salvation Army — and they'll be in place Saturday.

The citadel staff has already distributed the tripod kettle replicas in business places and contributions in the downtown street kettles will add to the funds used by the agency for its annual Christmas program of providing help and cheer to the needy of the district. The appeal traditionally begins after Thanksgiving and continues through Christmas Eve. The Salvation Army has used the red kettles for more than 60 years.

Mrs. William Hathorn, wife of the local commander, said about 350 sunshine kits are to be packed for patients in rest homes, hospitals of the area and the county jail and County Home.

Some 100 used dolls have been dressed for distribution at Christmas, along with new dolls already donated.

Names for Christmas baskets will be received at the Citadel office Dec. 4 to 20. They will be distributed Dec. 23, when the toy and clothing shop will be opened to all recipients. Mothers and children's parties are also being planned.

Some good cooks like to use equal parts of mayonnaise and tomato catchup as a sauce for seafood cocktails; other cooks prefer to use twice as much mayonnaise as catchup.

Worcestershire sauce adds zest to a simple cheddar cheese spread, cheese soup or a cheese souffle.

Robbery

Strobel, Robert Pyle and Samuel E. Hayes

It all began when Officer Hayes, in charge of the desk at headquarters, received a telephone report from Richard Kelly, the attendant at the Petrosol station, that two men had stolen the metal box with $49 from the bottom of the cigarette machine.

Posing as customers, one kept the attendant busy checking the oil in their car while the other entered the station and pried open the vending machine with a spoon, police discovered.

Officer Hayes dispatched Officer Strobel in Cruiser No. 2 to begin the investigation.

Officer Carter, operating Cruiser No. 1 in West End, was notified to stop at headquarters, pick up Lt. Boso and then join the search for the pair. Officer Strobel radioed a description of the old car the men were driving and said it was believed headed for the downtown area.

Lt. Boso and Officer Carter made a search downtown, then drove to the service station via the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd." They obtained a more definite description of the two suspects. Kelly told the officers the two men had been in the station earlier and had seen him obtain change from the box kept in the bottom of the cigarette machine.

Returning downtown, the officers halted at the Bus Terminal and advised the cab company dispatcher to have his taxi drivers keep a lookout for the wanted auto. Meanwhile, Officer Pyle had been at the Bus Terminal. He told the other officers two men answering the description of the wanted pair had hired a cab a short time earlier to go to Rock Camp.

While the officers started in pursuit of the cab, the dispatcher was asked to radio the cab, asked its location and then told the driver to call the terminal by telephone—a device to halt the cab trip until police caught up.

While the pursuit was in progress, Officer Hayes—at the station—and Officer Pyle, at the terminal, relayed information back and forth by telephone while the dispatcher talked with the cabbie, explained the situation and continued to stall him until the cruiser arrived.

Police found the cab parked in a lot at Hoge's Restaurant on Routes 7 and 30, where the cabbie had halted to use an outdoor pay phone. They took the pair into custody.

Until the arrest, police had been unaware of the burglary at the Burgess Grocery. The men admitted the burglary as well as the service station theft during interrogation.

Officers discovered the two gained entry by breaking a window on the south side of the building. Scattering boxes in a search for money, they finally found a large bag filled with pennies.

Police said Beatty is an East Liverpool native who apparently has no permanent address at present. An ex-serviceman, he gave his address as Honolulu, Hawaii. Officers said they have a warrant on file for the $295 embezzlement and Maryland authorities have advised they will extradite Beatty.

Reconstructing the men's movements, police learned they first went to Vine St. Wednesday night or early Thursday and took an auto belonging to the brother of one of the pair. Since no key was required to start the car, they took it without the owner's knowledge, police said.

After the burglary at the grocery, the men went to a downtown service station and purchased gasoline using some of the stolen money, police said. Then they drove to East End and took the money at the service station, officers reported.

The men returned the car to Vine St. after the robbery, then walked to the Bus Terminal and took the cab to make their getaway, officers said.

Blaschak and Beatty were bound over to the Grand Jury on two charges each when arraigned today before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff. The court set bond at $3,000 for both — $1,500 on each charge.

They are accused of burglary of the grocery and "forcbile entry of a depository box containing money" at the service station. Beatty pleaded guilty to both counts. Blaschak admitted the grocery burglary but pleaded not guilty to the service station theft. He was bound over after the judge heard evidence from the arresting officers.

Meanwhile, Olen Charles Freeman, 46, of 854 State St. was fined $200 and costs, sentenced to five days in jail and had his operator's permit suspended for 90 days when he pleaded guilty this morning to a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Freeman was cited Wednesday at 3:45 p.m. after his station wagon hit the rear of a halted auto at Elizabeth St. and Pennsylvania Ave.

Miss Geraldine P. Gasparine of Follansbee was fined $20 and costs when she pleaded guilty to a State Highway Patrol charge of speeding 75 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on the East Liverpool-Wellsville Rd. She was cited Nov. 7.

A hearing is set Monday at 9 a.m. for Homer C. Wells of Adena R.D. 2, cited today at 12:42 a.m. on a charge of crashing a traffic light at W. 8th and Lisbon Sts. He posted a $27 bond.

The citadel staff has already distributed the tripod kettle replicas in business places and contributions in the downtown street kettles will add to the funds used by the agency for its annual Christmas program of providing help and cheer to the needy of the district. The appeal traditionally begins after Thanksgiving and continues through Christmas Eve. The Salvation Army has used the red kettles for more than 60 years.

Mrs. William Hathorn, wife of the local commander, said about 350 sunshine kits are to be packed for patients in rest homes, hospitals of the area and the county jail and County Home.

Some 100 used dolls have been dressed for distribution at Christmas, along with new dolls already donated.

Names for Christmas baskets will be received at the Citadel office Dec. 4 to 20. They will be distributed Dec. 23, when the toy and clothing shop will be opened to all recipients. Mothers and children's parties are also being planned.

Some good cooks like to use equal parts of mayonnaise and tomato catchup as a sauce for seafood cocktails; other cooks prefer to use twice as much mayonnaise as catchup.

Worcestershire sauce adds zest to a simple cheddar cheese spread, cheese soup or a cheese souffle.

Robbery

Strobel, Robert Pyle and Samuel E. Hayes

It all began when Officer Hayes, in charge of the desk at headquarters, received a telephone report from Richard Kelly, the attendant at the Petrosol station, that two men had stolen the metal box with $49 from the bottom of the cigarette machine.

Posing as customers, one kept the attendant busy checking the oil in their car while the other entered the station and pried open the vending machine with a spoon, police discovered.

Officer Hayes dispatched Officer Strobel in Cruiser No. 2 to begin the investigation.

Officer Carter, operating Cruiser No. 1 in West End, was notified to stop at headquarters, pick up Lt. Boso and then join the search for the pair. Officer Strobel radioed a description of the old car the men were driving and said it was believed headed for the downtown area.

Lt. Boso and Officer Carter made a search downtown, then drove to the service station via the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd." They obtained a more definite description of the two suspects. Kelly told the officers the two men had been in the station earlier and had seen him obtain change from the box kept in the bottom of the cigarette machine.

Returning downtown, the officers halted at the Bus Terminal and advised the cab company dispatcher to have his taxi drivers keep a lookout for the wanted auto. Meanwhile, Officer Pyle had been at the Bus Terminal. He told the other officers two men answering the description of the wanted pair had hired a cab a short time earlier to go to Rock Camp.

While the officers started in pursuit of the cab, the dispatcher was asked to radio the cab, asked its location and then told the driver to call the terminal by telephone—a device to halt the cab trip until police caught up.

While the pursuit was in progress, Officer Hayes—at the station—and Officer Pyle, at the terminal, relayed information back and forth by telephone while the dispatcher talked with the cabbie, explained the situation and continued to stall him until the cruiser arrived.

Police found the cab parked in a lot at Hoge's Restaurant on Routes 7 and 30, where the cabbie had halted to use an outdoor pay phone. They took the pair into custody.

Until the arrest, police had been unaware of the burglary at the Burgess Grocery. The men admitted the burglary as well as the service station theft during interrogation.

Officers discovered the two gained entry by breaking a window on the south side of the building. Scattering boxes in a search for money, they finally found a large bag filled with pennies.

Police said Beatty is an East Liverpool native who apparently has no permanent address at present. An ex-serviceman, he gave his address as Honolulu, Hawaii. Officers said they have a warrant on file for the $295 embezzlement and Maryland authorities have advised they will extradite Beatty.

Reconstructing the men's movements, police learned they first went to Vine St. Wednesday night or early Thursday and took an auto belonging to the brother of one of the pair. Since no key was required to start the car, they took it without the owner's knowledge, police said.

After the burglary at the grocery, the men went to a downtown service station and purchased gasoline, using some of the stolen money, police said. Then they drove to East End and took the money at the service station, officers reported.

The men returned the car to Vine St. after the robbery, then walked to the Bus Terminal and took the cab to make their getaway, officers said.

Blaschak and Beatty were bound over to the Grand Jury on two charges each when arraigned today before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff. The court set bond at $3,000 for both — $1,500 on each charge.

They are accused of burglary of the grocery and "forcbile entry of a depository box containing money" at the service station. Beatty pleaded guilty to both counts. Blaschak admitted the grocery burglary but pleaded not guilty to the service station theft. He was bound over after the judge heard evidence from the arresting officers.

Meanwhile, Olen Charles Freeman, 46, of 854 State St. was fined $200 and costs, sentenced to five days in jail and had his operator's permit suspended for 90 days when he pleaded guilty this morning to a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Freeman was cited Wednesday at 3:45 p.m. after his station wagon hit the rear of a halted auto at Elizabeth St. and Pennsylvania Ave.

Miss Geraldine P. Gasparine of Follansbee was fined $20 and costs when she pleaded guilty to a State Highway Patrol charge of speeding 75 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on the East Liverpool-Wellsville Rd. She was cited Nov. 7.

A hearing is set Monday at 9 a.m. for Homer C. Wells of Adena R.D. 2, cited today at 12:42 a.m. on a charge of crashing a traffic light at W. 8th and Lisbon Sts. He posted a $27 bond.

Council At Lisbon May Ask Income Tax

LISBON — The possibility of establishing an income tax to provide needed village funds will be discussed by Council at a meeting Monday night at 7:30, Mayor Dean Stockman said today.

Voters in the Nov. 7 general election turned down for the second time this year a proposed 3-mill levy which would have provided about $18,000 annually. It had been defeated once previously.

City officials have cited the need for additional funds since the revenue from traffic cases fell off heavily after Ohio Highway Patrol arrests reverted to county courts.

Council is also expected to discuss a proposal to relinquish village priority on rights to property on which the Lions Club clubhouse is located.

He was also fined $10 and costs for failure to display registration. The charge was filed by the Ohio Highway Patrol.

Herman Bishop of Glenmoor and Paul Posey of Alliance were fined $25 and costs each for operating trucks with an overload.

James H. Stokes, 1070 St. George St., and Charles Rogers of New Waterford R.D. were fined $10 and costs each for speeding, and Eddie Zeock of Fredericktown forfeited a $15 appearance bond on a similar charge.

Council At Lisbon May Ask Income Tax

LISBON — The possibility of establishing an income tax to provide needed village funds will be discussed by Council at a meeting Monday night at 7:30, Mayor Dean Stockman said today.

Voters in the Nov. 7 general election turned down for the second time this year a proposed 3-mill levy which would have provided about $18,000 annually. It had been defeated once previously.

City officials have cited the need for additional funds since the revenue from traffic cases fell off heavily after Ohio Highway Patrol arrests reverted to county courts.

Council is also expected to discuss a proposal to relinguish village priority on rights to property on which the Lions Club clubhouse is located.

Herman Bishop of Glenmoor and Paul Posey of Alliance were fined $25 and costs each for operating trucks with an overload.

Ike Hits Super-Patriots And Rise Of Extremists

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower deplores what he calls "super-patriots" and the recent "rise of extremists" in this country.

He also urged armed forces officers to shun partisan politics.

Among other points covered by Eisenhower in the second of a series of filmed television interviews presented Thursday night over the CBS TV network:

1. He learned at the first Geneva summit conference that Nikita Khrushchev, and not Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin, was the boss of the Soviet delegation.

2. The Soviet Union would never start a nuclear war because of America's destructive power.

3. Sooner or later the Soviet people will get the word that the free world is against aggression.

4. The foregoing will create pressure inside the Soviet Union for disarmament.

5. The erection of a wall between East and West Berlin is a sign of Soviet weakness.

6. The removal of the body of former Premier Stalin from the tomb in Moscow's Red Square shows Premier Khrushchev is uneasy about something.

In connection with Thanksgiving Day Eisenhower said: "We've got a lot of things to be thankful for. First of all, there's not a war. . . We are prosperous, we're a free people. . . We are a people that are respected for our strength and not only our military strength, our economic strength throughout the world."

In discussing extremists the former president said:

"I don't think the United States needs super-patriots. We need patriotism, honestly practiced by all of us, and we don't need these people that are more patriotic than you or anybody else."

His definition of extremists included those who would "go back to eliminating the income tax. . . and the rights of people to union ize. . . (and those) advocating some form of dictatorship."

It also included, Eisenhower said, those who "make radical statements (and) attack people of good repute who are proved patriots."

Speaking as a general of the Army, Eisenhower said it was "bad practice, very bad" for an officer, even when testifying under oath before a congressional committee, to express opinions "on political matters or economic matters that are contrary to the President's."

Asked specifically about officers who try to indoctrinate their troops, the former president said:

"I believe the Army officer, Navy officer, Air officer should not be talking about political matters, particularly domestically, and never in the international field unless he's asked to do so because of some particular position he might hold."

4 Small Boys Cause Bulldozer To 'Run Wild'

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Boys often had gone to the Rushton Construction Co. lot in suburban Elsmere to play and at times they climbed aboard the big bulldozer sitting there.

Thanksgiving Day was no exception. Four boys, ranging in age from 9 to 11, climbed aboard the dozer and began their play.

Suddenly the machine started in a backward motion and the boys jumped from it.

Before it could be brought to a halt it knocked down two buildings on the lot, went through a yard and tore out a kitchen wall at the home of John Goheen, knocked down trees, a hedge and fence in Goheen's yard and hit three cars in the street.

The damage estimate by police —$7,500 to $10,000. Distance traveled—about 1,200 feet.

Charles Boyer, an owner of one of the cars, jumped aboard the bulldozer after it had dragged his auto 150 feet. He started pulling switches and somehow brought the machine to a stop.

He Had 'Lettuce' On Thanksgiving $83 Worth Of It

NEW YORK (AP) — Gerard Murray had "lettuce" for his Thanksgiving Day dinner—83 dollars' worth.

Murray, 21, was hauled into a Brooklyn court Thursday and accused of assaulting a policeman. He was booked on charges of simple assault and malicious mischief.

As per custom, the prisoner's personal belongings were being taken from him.

Murray balked and cried, "You're not going to get my money."

With that, he began stuffing 10's 5s and one dollar bills into his mouth. When Murray finished chewing the bills, a patrolman gave him a glass of water for a chaser.

Coroner's Decision Waited In Fatality

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—The coroner will be asked today to determine whether the death Thursday night of Emmet E. Bard, 70, of Canton, was a traffic fatality.

The state highway patrol said a car driven by Bard struck a utility pole on the northwest side, then careened across the road into a fence.

He was pronounced dead at Aultman Hospital. Relatives said Bard may have suffered a heart attack.

Woodcutter, 112, Eats With Kin, Mrs. Shaver

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Until four years ago, Tom Reason of Kaufman, Tex., was a wood cutter.

He had to quit because of a back injury suffered in an auto accident.

Breaks U.S. Domination

Brazil Renews Diplomatic Relations With Russians

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) —Brazil renewed diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union Thursday in a move apparently intended to demonstrate its freedom from U.S. domination—but it could mean trouble for the wobbly young government of Premier Tancredo Neves.

After a 14-year break, Foreign Minister Francisco Santiago Dantas announced the resumption of formal ties with Moscow during a tumultuous session of the Chamber of Deputies in Brasilia. Anti-Communist deputies almost shouted him down.

Angry congressmen, shouting "shame" contended that the Communists already had a strong enough hold in Brazil without the presence of Soviet diplomats in Rio de Janeiro and the inland capital.

Neves told newsmen that the renewal of relations did not mean that Brazil—which is 95 per cent Roman Catholic—is selling out its democratic Christian ideals.

There has been no concession on the part of the Brazilian government, said Neves.

Relations with the Soviet Union have been a hot potato for Brazilian politicians since President Eurico Gaspar Dutra angrily broke with Moscow in 1947 because of Soviet newspaper attacks on him and Brazilian army generals.

President Juscelino Kubitschek toyed with the idea of restoring relations. He finally sided with the West in the cold war, but he did set up commercial relations with the Soviet Union.

Enigmatic Janio Quadros—who succeeded Kubitschek and then quit in a huff last August, set in motion the machinery to exchange envoys with Moscow once more.

Confessed Slayer Can't Recall He Admitted Act

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP)—Police say Grover Gross has apparently forgotten he admitted killing two businessmen in an unexplainable rage.

Officers said Gross told other prisoners Thursday in Newport jail he didn't remember making any statement about the shooting deaths of the two on a Newport street corner Nov. 13.

Patrolman Donald Faulkner, who took the statement Wednesday on a tape recorder while Gross' wife sat next to Gross, said he induced the man to tell what he knew by earlier talk of his family and Thanksgiving Day.

Gross, 49, an illiterate millhand, is accused of murder in the deaths of Irvin J. Corken Jr., 37 of Mount Washington, Ohio, and Milton Horner, 37, of Fort Thomas.

Gross had earlier maintained he knew nothing of the men's deaths, although faced with laboratory evidence his gun had fired the fatal bullets.

However, in his Wednesday statement, he said a sudden anger came over him and he started shooting after seeing one man raise his hand as if to throw something at Gross' car parked nearby.

The Campbell County grand jury is expected to hear the case next week.

Coroner's Ruling Due

CLEVELAND (AP) — The coroner was to rule today in the death of 4 - month - old Jill Schreiber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted D. Schreiber of suburban Lyndhurst. She was found dead Thursday in her crib by her mother, who said the infant had a cold. Attempts to revive the child by mouth-to-mouth resuscitation were futile.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My father is like a dictator. He thinks a girl 15 is an infant.

Two weeks ago the kids had a beer-bust on the beach. Dad said I couldn't go because the Saturday before I got in too late. (Ike's car broke down.) When I told Ike I couldn't go to the beer-bust, he said he'd come over to see me. I knew my old man wouldn't let him in the house because I was supposed to be in solitary, so I told Ike to climb in through my bedroom window.

At about 10:30 we heard my Dad coming down the hall so Ike got under my bed. Our dog was under the bed and Ike must have stepped on him. Anyway the dog yelped and my dad found Ike.

Now I'm grounded for a month. Do you realize this is four miserable weeks? I'll crack up. How can I get my Dad to trust me? — STALAG 17.

Dear Stalag: Trust must be earned — and it must be earned one day at a time by consistently honorable behavior.

I'm not surprised you're in hot water. No honorable girl would invite her boy friend to sneak into the house through the window and then hide him under the bed.

If you want to be treated like an honest and mature person, cut out the curves and play it straight.

$100 Lesson

Dear Ann: My boy friend Bennie and a couple of his buddies took their vacation at a place where there is wide-open gambling.

Bennie is pretty good with the dice, so I gave him $100 and told him to bring me home a bundle of lettuce.

He phoned me after a few days and said he had a lousy streak and my $100 went the first night. I figured that was that.

The day after they got home, one of his buddies mentioned in an off-hand way that Bennie had won $600. I was shocked. When I asked him about it he said "Yeah, my luck changed right after I lost your hundred."

What do you think of a guy like that? — KELLY.

Dear Kelly: I think it would be worth $100 to be rid of the heel. And I hope you are.

First Name Callers

Dear Ann: We have several nieces and nephews and they all call us by our first names. My husband thinks this is disgraceful. Frankly, I don't mind that they don't attach an "aunt" before my name, but my husband says it's symptomatic of the lack of respect young people have for all adults today.

We are expecting our first child in March. My husband is determined that OUR child will not address any adult by his first name. How do you feel about this? — INQUIRER.

Dear Inquirer: It's going to be at least two years before your child will be calling anybody anthing. But since your husband wants to settle everything yesterday, by all means agree to support his position.

Personally when I'm called "Aunt" it makes me feel 20 years older.

Confidentially

TO ASHAMED AND AFRAID: Go to a doctor immediately. You can't treat this your self and it is bound to get worse.

-:-

TO SECOND GUESSER: Continue to make those mind bets. All you can lose is your mind. And stop aggravating yourself. He never tells you when he loses, Dummy.

---

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

---

Coal Industry Asks Curb On Oil Imports

WASHINGTON (AP) — The coal industry, striving to recapture markets it has lost to oil and gas, called this week for tighter chokes on imports of residual fuel oil.

The present level of the imports, with a large segment of industry depending on them for energy, poses a real danger to national security, the National Coal Policy Conference said in a report.

"Continued dependence on such a great volume of imported energy fuel will result in a dangerous hampering of growth by America's own domestic fuels industry," the report said.

It contended that current restrictions on residual imports have not brought any decline in the flow of heavy fuel oil into this country from foreign nations, principally Venezuela and the Netherlands-West Indies.

The report added that if all restrictions on the residual imports should be removed, as suggested by some importing companies, the national security would be "further impaired" by resulting damage to the domestic coal and oil industries.

It said the U.S. coal industry has lost some 40 million tons of sales annually to imported residual oil since World War II and if present import restrictions should be removed the industry would face the loss of another 50 million tons of "cut-rate competition."

In addition, the report said, many more East Coast industries would be "lured by the immediate profit advantage of a dump fuel and would become so fully dependent on it for energy that they would have to be written off in case of war" or other emergency.

The price of residual would probably drop to even more depressed levels," the conference said, "and the effect on the economy of Venezuela, as well as in other producing nations, would be most severe."

The National Coal Policy Conference, with headquarters in Washington, is an organization of coal companies, the United Mine Workers coal transporting railroads, electric utility companies and coal equipment manufacturers.

Taking note of complaints from New England of extensive damage to the economy of that area because of higher fuel costs since the import restrictions were imposed, the report declared these claims are "not borne out by the facts."

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My father is like a dictator. He thinks a girl 15 is an infant.

Two weeks ago the kids had a beer-bust on the beach. Dad said I couldn't go because the Saturday before I got in too late. (Ike's car broke down.) When I told Ike I couldn't go to the beer-bust, he said he'd come over to see me. I knew my old man wouldn't let him in the house because I was supposed to be in solitary, so I told Ike to climb in through my bedroom window.

At about 10:30 we heard my Dad coming down the hall so Ike got under my bed. Our dog was under the bed and Ike must have stepped on him. Anyway the dog yelped and my dad found Ike.

Now I'm grounded for a month. Do you realize this is four miserable weeks? I'll crack up. How can I get my Dad to trust me? — STALAG 17.

Dear Stalag: Trust must be earned — and it must be earned one day at a time by consistently honorable behavior.

I'm not surprised you're in hot water. No honorable girl would invite her boy friend to sneak into the house through the window and then hide him under the bed.

If you want to be treated like an honest and mature person, cut out the curves and play it straight.

$100 Lesson

Dear Ann: My boy friend Bennie and a couple of his buddies took their vacation at a place where there is wide-open gambling.

Bennie is pretty good with the dice, so I gave him $100 and told him to bring me home a bundle of lettuce.

He phoned me after a few days and said he had a lousy streak and my $100 went the first night. I figured that was that.

The day after they got home, one of his buddies mentioned in an off-hand way that Bennie had won $600. I was shocked. When I asked him about it he said "Yeah, my luck changed right after I lost your hundred."

What do you think of a guy like that? — KELLY.

Dear Kelly: I think it would be worth $100 to be rid of the heel. And I hope you are.

First Name Callers

Dear Ann: We have several nieces and nephews and they all call us by our first names. My husband thinks this is disgraceful. Frankly, I don't mind that they don't attach an "aunt" before my name, but my husband says it's symptomatic of the lack of respect young people have for all adults today.

We are expecting our first child in March. My husband is determined that OUR child will not address any adult by his first name. How do you feel about this? — INQUIRER.

Dear Inquirer: It's going to be at least two years before your child will be calling anybody anthing. But since your husband wants to settle everything yesterday, by all means agree to support his position.

Personally when I'm called "Aunt" it makes me feel 20 years older.

Confidentially

TO ASHAMED AND AFRAID: Go to a doctor immediately. You can't treat this your self and it is bound to get worse.

-:-

TO SECOND GUESSER: Continue to make those mind bets. All you can lose is your mind. And stop aggravating yourself. He never tells you when he loses, Dummy.

---

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Long Illness Fatal

DETROIT (AP) — Timothy J. McCarthy Sr., founder and board chairman of the T. J. McCarthy Steamship Co., died Thursday in a hospital after an illness of several months. He was 77.

Coal Industry Asks Curb On Oil Imports

WASHINGTON (AP) — The coal industry, striving to recapture markets it has lost to oil and gas, called this week for tighter chokes on imports of residual fuel oil.

The present level of the imports, with a large segment of industry depending on them for energy, poses a real danger to national security, the National Coal Policy Conference said in a report.

"Continued dependence on such a great volume of imported energy fuel will result in a dangerous hampering of growth by America's own domestic fuels industry," the report said.

It contended that current restrictions on residual imports have not brought any decline in the flow of heavy fuel oil into this country from foreign nations, principally Venezuela and the Netherlands-West Indies.

The report added that if all restrictions on the residual imports should be removed, as suggested by some importing companies, the national security would be "further impaired" by resulting damage to the domestic coal and oil industries.

It said the U.S. coal industry has lost some 40 million tons of sales annually to imported residual oil since World War II and if present import restrictions should be removed the industry would face the loss of another 50 million tons of "cut-rate competition."

In addition, the report said, many more East Coast industries would be "lured by the immediate profit advantage of a dump fuel and would become so fully dependent on it for energy that they would have to be written off in case of war" or other emergency.

The price of residual would probably drop to even more depressed levels," the conference said, "and the effect on the economy of Venezuela, as well as in other producing nations, would be most severe."

The National Coal Policy Conference, with headquarters in Washington, is an organization of coal companies, the United Mine Workers coal transporting railroads, electric utility companies and coal equipment manufacturers.

Taking note of complaints from New England of extensive damage to the economy of that area because of higher fuel costs since the import restrictions were imposed, the report declared these claims are "not borne out by the facts."

4 Bowl Spots Should Be Filled After Saturday's Games

'Bama Seems Headed For Rose Contest; Texas In Cotton

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The bowl picture will become clearer and all but one of the major conference titles will be settled Saturday when the 1961 football season presents its last full day of activity.

There still remains next week's traditional closer featuring Army-Navy, and a few more traditional rivalries.

At least four bowl spots will be filled by Saturday evening, and every major conference, except the Southeastern, will be able to crown its 1961 champion.

Alabama, the nation's No. 1 team in the current Associated Press poll, is idle this week and holds onto its SEC lead until next Saturday's battle against Auburn. Its post-season plans, presumably the Rose Bowl, won't become known until after this game.

But with Texas already in the Cotton Bowl and assured of at least a tie for the Southwest Conference title after Thursday's 25-0 victory over Texas A&M, the tempo begins to pick up.

Texas used a pair of field goals by Eldon Moritz to soften up the Aggies in the first half, then polished them off with a three-touchdown burst. The victory gave the Longhorns a 9-1 season record and assured them of the host spot in the Cotton Bowl. Arkansas (No. 9) can tie for the conference lead if it beats Texas Tech, but Texas goes to the Cotton Bowl by virtue of its 33-6 decision over the Porkers.

An Arkansas victory over Tech would make it eligible for a bowl, probably the Bluebonnet or Sugar.

Fourth-ranked Louisiana State plays Tulane, then gives its final answer to the Orange Bowl committee. An opponent will come from the Big Eight, where leader Colorado (No. 7) can wrap up the title by beating Iowa State. If the Buffaloes lose, then a Kansas victory over Missouri will cause a tie and might get the Jayhawks to Miami.

The Rose Bowl host will be decided when UCLA and Southern California meet on the West Coast in a game that will decide the Big Five title. Just in case the Big Ten gets the nod, Minnesota (7-1), defending national champ and ranked third currently, must beat Wisconsin to stay in a tie for the title if Ohio State, ranked second, wins over Michigan.

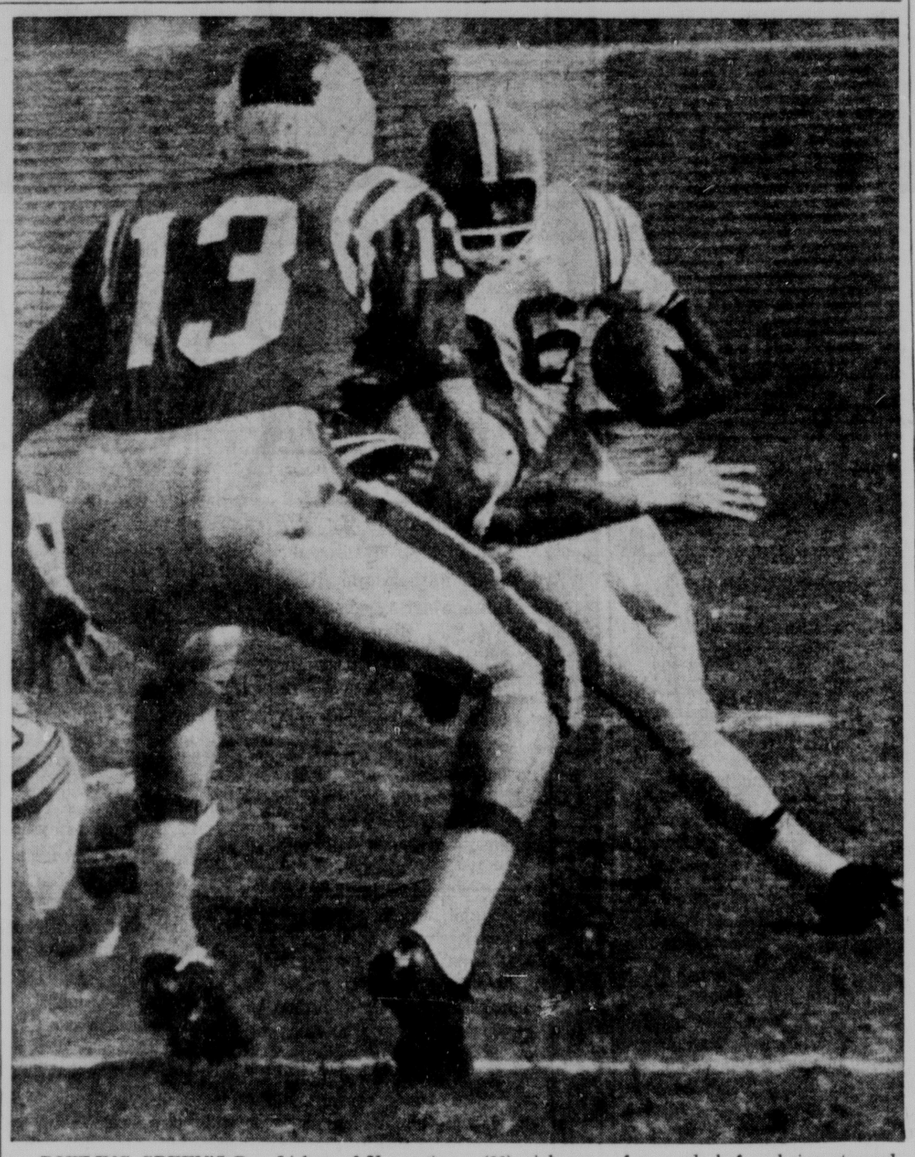

Both would be considered co-champions and it would be up to the Rose Bowl committee and the conference to decide who goes.

Texas' opponent in the Cotton Bowl most likely will be Mississippi (No. 6), but Old Miss is idle this week and closes against Mississippi State Dec. 2.

Maryland must beat Virginia Saturday to get into the Gator Bowl against Georgia Tech, which is also idle until next week.

The big question mark is the Sugar Bowl, where Arkansas may be one team against Atlantic Coast Conference winner, Duke, which closes next week against Notre Dame. Other prospects include Auburn, which meets also eligible Florida, Rice, which will meet Texas Christian and closes Dec. 2 against Baylor, and Miami of Florida, which plays Northwestern tonight in Miami.

Green Bay Eyes 2nd Straight

Packers Close To Western Title After Topping Lions

By JERRY GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP)—With or without Pvt. Paul Hornung, only a complete collapse will halt the Green Bay Packers' drive to their second straight Western Division title in the National Football League.

The Packers, with Hornung in the lineup, defeated the Detroit Lions, their closest pursuers, 17-9 Thursday. The victory, on a muddy field before 55,662 soaked fans and a national television audience left the Packers 2½ games ahead of the Lions.

Just one victory in their remaining three games will send the Packers into the Dec. 31 NFL championship game with the Eastern Division champion.

"We're not having a celebration —not yet," said Coach Vince Lombardi, the man who built the Packers from a doormat to a division champion in two years. "But obviously we're in great shape, needing only one more win to take it."

George Wilson, whose Lions had made a remarkable comeback by losing only once in six games until running into the Packers, agreed the race in the West has ended.

"We still have an outside chance, but it's a mighty slim one," moaned Wilson.

Hornung and soldier-teammates Boyd Dowler and Ray Nitschke are available on a game-to-game basis. The Army granted them and John Gordy of Detroit passes to play Thursday.

It was the first football in 11 days for Hornung, the NFL's leading scorer. He appeared rusty and the thick mud handicapped his running.

But he caught a key 26-yard pass in the Packers' 40-yard drive that resulted in their winning touchdown on the first play of the final period.

The Packers now will take a few days off while the New York Giants and Cleveland Browns will play the Eastern Division showdown Sunday at Cleveland. The Giants lead the Browns and the Philadelphia Eagles by one game.

The Eagles will be at home Sunday against the Dallas Cowboys. In Sunday's other games, Baltimore plays Washington, Los Angeles plays Chicago, Minnesota plays San Francisco and St. Louis plays Pittsburgh.

BG Beaten, 36-6, In Mercy Contest

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Mercy Bowl football game went into the books as a stunning win for underrated Fresno State, a loss for Bowling Green and a success for its cause—victims of the Cal Poly plane crash a year ago.

Quarterback Beau Carter, end Jan Barrett and the Fresno Bulldogs broke the Thanksgiving contest wide open in the third quarter with a three-touchdown explosion and went on to win, 36-6.

Said Bowling Green coach, Doyt Perry, who had never in seven years with the Falcons had so many points scored against him:

"We were just beaten by a better team. . . . I didn't think anybody could beat us that bad."

Bowling Green is champion of the large college Mid - America Conference. Unbeaten Fresno State is the kingpin of the small college California Collegiate Athletic Association.

"We just wanted to let them know that somebody out here wanted to hit. I'm tired of hearing that West Coast teams don't want to hit," said Fresno coach Cecil Coleman.

Carter threw touchdown strikes of 45 and 23 yards to Barrett and scored two touchdowns himself to lead the attack that featured 368 passing yards on 22 of 43 aerials completed.

Fullback Ray Bell plunged two yards to end a 51-yard drive for Bowling Green's only score and a short-lived 6-3 lead.

Jim Potts of East Liverpool set up Bowling Green's only touchdown by throwing to Larry Smith for 42 yards which carried to the Fresno State 7-yard line.

There were 33,145 spectators in Memorial Coliseum. Benefit officials said the game was a financial success.

Holy Name Captures Cleveland City Title

CLEVELAND (AP)—Holy Name has won its first city high school championship in four appearances in the annual classic. The Namers defeated Cathedral Latin 12-7 Thursday before almost 30,000 rain - soaked fans at Municipal Stadium.

The 5-foot-6, 150-pound Frank Solich scored Holy Name's touchdowns on runs of 8 and 50 yards and gained 184 yards in 28 carries. Latin was unbeaten in 12 previous title games.

Lakers Take 5½ Game Lead In NBA Play

By The Associated Press

The hapless St. Louis Hawks, five-time winner of the Western Division title in the National Basketball Association put on a remarkable — but unsuccessful — comeback Thursday night before bowing to Los Angeles 122-114.

That, combined with Syracuse's 117-99 victory over Cincinnati, gave the pace-setting Lakers a 5½ game bulge atop the Western Division standings and dropped the fourth-place Hawks eight games off the pace.

In the East, the defending champion Boston Celtics resumed their habit of winning the big ones, tripping Wilt Chamberlain and the Philadelphia Warriors 119-106 in Philadelphia. It opened Boston's Eastern lead to 3½ games over the Warriors.

The Hawks pulled up to within 2 points at 77-75 in the third period, but couldn't get closer. They were never closer than four in the last quarter.

Elgin Baylor poured in 40 points and grabbed 23 rebounds for the Lakers.

Boston, trailing 59-55 at the half, struck for 16 points in a four-minute span of the third period while Philadelphia managed a lone free throw. That put them ahead to stay, leading by 6 to 14 points the rest of the way.

Syracuse held Oscar Robertson to 20 points and Jack Twyman to 17 in its relatively easy affair with Cincinnati.

Commissioner Challenged

Foss, Wismer Will Meet For Showdown On Draft

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Marine ace Joe Foss, quipping that "it's like having an audience with Khrushchev," prepared today for a showdown meeting with Harry Wismer over the New York Titan president's challenge to his authority as commissioner of the American Football League.

"It (the meeting) may come today, it may come later," Foss said. "I'm looking into certain things, very carefully. When it happens depends on how fast things move. I'm taking my time. We've had discussions before. It's like having an audience with Khrushchev."

Foss declined to explain what "things" meant but he balked at discussing little else in the sizzling feud that followed revelations that the young professional league had conducted a premature draft of college players in violation of an agreement with college officials.

Foss, claiming no knowledge of the owners' secret draft that came two weeks before the agreed upon Dec. 2 date, ordered it canceled Wednesday. Wismer openly defied the cancelation; said he would continue to try to sign the six college players, including Syracuse halfback Ernie Davis, he had picked in the draft.

Now each is threatening to oust the other and Foss is convinced he has the support of the other seven owners.

"The other owners realize you must have a commissioner, someone running the show," the World War II Marine pilot and former governor of South Dakota told The Associated Press.

Gophers, OSU Can End Undefeated In Big 10

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

A footnote in Big Ten football lore will be added in Saturday's season windup if Minnesota and Ohio State are victorious.

It will mean the first unbeaten co - champions in the conference since 1943 when Purdue and Michigan shared the crown with 6-0 records.

Minnesota can lock up a 7-0 campaign by turning aside its oldest football rival, Wisconsin, at Minneapolis. It would give the Gophers their first perfect conference season since Bernie Bierman's great 1941 team posted 5-0.

Ohio State, which had a 7-0 record in winning the 1957 title, can finish 6-0 with a successful invasion of Michigan in another strongly traditional attraction. It will be regionally televised (ABC, 1:30 p. m. EST).

The Big Ten championship is determined strictly on percentage. If both the nationally second-ranked Buckeyes and No. 3 Gophers should lose, Minnesota with its extra - game schedule would be titleholder with a 6-1 to Ohio State's 5-1.

Other games in the Big Ten finish:

Purdue (3-2) at Indiana (0-5) for the Old Oaken Bucket which has been in the Boilermakers' possession 13 years.

Illinois (0-6) at Michigan State (4-2). An Illinois defeat would stamp the Illini with their first all-losing season in history.

Notre Dame (5-3) at Iowa (4-4 for the season). The Hawkeyes have lost their last four starts and another defeat would pin them with their longest streak in 16 years.

Northwestern (4-4 for the season) at Miami, Fla. (5-3) tonight. It would be the Wildcats' fourth successive winning season if they can cope with the Hurricanes' aerial display.

2 Share Top Honors In Run-Walk Races

CINCINNATI (AP)—Felton Hill of Miami University of Ohio and Jack Mortland of the Ohio Track Club at Worthington shared top honors Thursday in the 52nd annual Cincinnati Elks Lodge road race and heel and toe walking contest.

Hill, a freshman from Stony Creek, Ont., Canada, ran the 6 1-8-mile course in 32:42.5, while Mortland walked the same route in 50.00.5. The competitors began at Fort Thomas, Ky., crossed the L & N Bridge over the Ohio River and finished in downtown Cincinnati.

Ten walkers and 28 runners started.

East Wins, 21-12, In Gem Bowl At Erie

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — The East downed the West 21-12 in the annual Gem Bowl football game Thursday with Ohio gridders figuring in the scoring columns for both all-star squads.

First touchdown for the East came when Peter Joliff of Toledo took a 14-yard pass from Ronald Houseknecht of Muhlenberg. The West's first blood came in the second period when Bill Triplett of Miami University went over on a two-yard plunge.

Larry Cox of Xavier took a pass from Joe DeNone of Geneva for the conversion on the East's final tally. DeNone scored one TD and passed for another six-pointer.

4 Bowl Spots Should Be Filled After Saturday's Games

'Bama Seems Headed For Rose Contest; Texas In Cotton

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The bowl picture will become clearer and all but one of the major conference titles will be settled Saturday when the 1961 football season presents its last full day of activity.

There still remains next week's traditional closer featuring Army-Navy, and a few more traditional rivalries.

At least four bowl spots will be filled by Saturday evening, and every major conference, except the Southeastern, will be able to crown its 1961 champion.

Alabama, the nation's No. 1 team in the current Associated Press poll, is idle this week and holds onto its SEC lead until next Saturday's battle against Auburn. Its post-season plans, presumably the Rose Bowl, won't become known until after this game.

But with Texas already in the Cotton Bowl and assured of at least a tie for the Southwest Conference title after Thursday's 25-0 victory over Texas A&M, the tempo begins to pick up.

Texas used a pair of field goals by Eldon Moritz to soften up the Aggies in the first half, then polished them off with a three-touchdown burst. The victory gave the Longhorns a 9-1 season record and assured them of the host spot in the Cotton Bowl. Arkansas (No. 9) can tie for the conference lead if it beats Texas Tech, but Texas goes to the Cotton Bowl by virtue of its 33-6 decision over the Porkers.

An Arkansas victory over Tech would make it eligible for a bowl, probably the Bluebonnet or Sugar.

Fourth-ranked Louisiana State plays Tulane, then gives its final answer to the Orange Bowl committee. An opponent will come from the Big Eight, where leader Colorado (No. 7) can wrap up the title by beating Iowa State. If the Buffaloes lose, then a Kansas victory over Missouri will cause a tie and might get the Jayhawks to Miami.

The Rose Bowl host will be decided when UCLA and Southern California meet on the West Coast in a game that will decide the Big Five title. Just in case the Big Ten gets the nod, Minnesota (7-1), defending national champ and ranked third currently, must beat Wisconsin to stay in a tie for the title if Ohio State, ranked second, wins over Michigan.

Both would be considered co-champions and it would be up to the Rose Bowl committee and the conference to decide who goes.

Texas' opponent in the Cotton Bowl most likely will be Mississippi (No. 6), but Old Miss is idle this week and closes against Mississippi State Dec. 2.

Maryland must beat Virginia Saturday to get into the Gator Bowl against Georgia Tech, which is also idle until next week.

The big question mark is the Sugar Bowl, where Arkansas may be one team against Atlantic Coast Conference winner, Duke, which closes next week against Notre Dame. Other prospects include Auburn, which meets also eligible Florida, Rice, which will meet Texas Christian and closes Dec. 2 against Baylor, and Miami of Florida, which plays Northwestern tonight in Miami.

Wittenberg, Akron Pace Ohio Conference Eleven

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — Wittenberg and Akron, which finished 1-2 in the 14-member Ohio Conference, dominated the all-conference team announced today by coaches in the loop.

Akron, which went from a 1-8 record in 1960 to a 6-2 showing this year, placed six men on the first units of offensive and defensive squads. Wittenberg, beaten only once all season, landed four.

Five gridders who gained berths on the 1960 squad made it again this year. Denison guard Al Slicker, Mount Union center Virg Stroia, Wittenberg quarterback Gary Tranquill, Muskingum defensive back Ron Dierke and Wittenberg end Bill Carpenter were the repeaters.

The selections:

First team (offense)—Ends Don Gerosa, Ohio Wesleyan, and Tom Adolph, Akron; tackles Ron Ulrich, Akron, and Bill McCormick, Denison; guards Jack Pietila, Otterbein, and Al Slicker, Denison; center Virg Stroia, Mount Union; quarterback Gary Tranquill, Wittenberg; fullback George Eo, Akron; halfbacks Alan Spiegelberg, Oberlin, and Jim Turner, Wooster.

Second team (offense) — Ends Clyde Benninghoff, Muskingum, and Harold Funke, Marietta; tackles Bob Vaka, Marietta, and Mel Trumbule, Ohio Wesleyan; guards Tony Butkowicz, Akron, and Bob Neill, Oberlin; center Tom Armstrong, Wittenberg; quarterback Joe Mackey, Akron; fullback Bill Biggers, Wittenberg; halfbacks Sam Miller, Muskingum, and Ray Dillahunt, Wittenberg.

Holy Name Captures Cleveland City Title

CLEVELAND (AP)—Holy Name has won its first city high school championship in four appearances in the annual classic. The Namers defeated Cathedral Latin 12-7 Thursday before almost 30,000 rain - soaked fans at Municipal Stadium.

The 5-foot-6, 150-pound Frank Solich scored Holy Name's touchdowns on runs of 8 and 50 yards and gained 184 yards in 28 carries. Latin was unbeaten in 12 previous title games.

Lakers Take 5½ Game Lead In NBA Play

By The Associated Press

The hapless St. Louis Hawks, five-time winner of the Western Division title in the National Basketball Association put on a remarkable — but unsuccessful — comeback Thursday night before bowing to Los Angeles 122-114.

That, combined with Syracuse's 117-99 victory over Cincinnati, gave the pace-setting Lakers a 5½ game bulge atop the Western Division standings and dropped the fourth-place Hawks eight games off the pace.

In the East, the defending champion Boston Celtics resumed their habit of winning the big ones, tripping Wilt Chamberlain and the Philadelphia Warriors 119-106 in Philadelphia. It opened Boston's Eastern lead to 3½ games over the Warriors.

The Hawks pulled up to within 2 points at 77-75 in the third period, but couldn't get closer. They were never closer than four in the last quarter.

Elgin Baylor poured in 40 points and grabbed 23 rebounds for the Lakers.

Boston, trailing 59-55 at the half, struck for 16 points in a four-minute span of the third period while Philadelphia managed a lone free throw. That put them ahead to stay, leading by 6 to 14 points the rest of the way.

Syracuse held Oscar Robertson to 20 points and Jack Twyman to 17 in its relatively easy affair with Cincinnati.

Commissioner Challenged

Foss, Wismer Will Meet For Showdown On Draft

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Marine ace Joe Foss, quipping that "it's like having an audience with Khrushchev," prepared today for a showdown meeting with Harry Wismer over the New York Titan president's challenge to his authority as commissioner of the American Football League.

"It (the meeting) may come today, it may come later," Foss said. "I'm looking into certain things, very carefully. When it happens depends on how fast things move. I'm taking my time. We've had discussions before. It's like having an audience with Khrushchev."

Foss declined to explain what "things" meant but he balked at discussing little else in the sizzling feud that followed revelations that the young professional league had conducted a premature draft of college players in violation of an agreement with college officials.

Foss, claiming no knowledge of the owners' secret draft that came two weeks before the agreed upon Dec. 2 date, ordered it canceled Wednesday. Wismer openly defied the cancelation; said he would continue to try to sign the six college players, including Syracuse halfback Ernie Davis, he had picked in the draft.

Now each is threatening to oust the other and Foss is convinced he has the support of the other seven owners.

"The other owners realize you must have a commissioner, someone running the show," the World War II Marine pilot and former governor of South Dakota told The Associated Press.

Gophers, OSU Can End Undefeated In Big 10

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

A footnote in Big Ten football lore will be added in Saturday's season windup if Minnesota and Ohio State are victorious.

It will mean the first unbeaten co - champions in the conference since 1943 when Purdue and Michigan shared the crown with 6-0 records.

Minnesota can lock up a 7-0 campaign by turning aside its oldest football rival, Wisconsin, at Minneapolis. It would give the Gophers their first perfect conference season since Bernie Bierman's great 1941 team posted 5-0.

Ohio State, which had a 7-0 record in winning the 1957 title, can finish 6-0 with a successful invasion of Michigan in another strongly traditional attraction. It will be regionally televised (ABC, 1:30 p. m. EST).

The Big Ten championship is determined strictly on percentage. If both the nationally second-ranked Buckeyes and No. 3 Gophers should lose, Minnesota with its extra - game schedule would be titleholder with a 6-1 to Ohio State's 5-1.

Other games in the Big Ten finish:

Purdue (3-2) at Indiana (0-5) for the Old Oaken Bucket which has been in the Boilermakers' possession 13 years.

Illinois (0-6) at Michigan State (4-2). An Illinois defeat would stamp the Illini with their first all-losing season in history.

Notre Dame (5-3) at Iowa (4-4 for the season). The Hawkeyes have lost their last four starts and another defeat would pin them with their longest streak in 16 years.

Northwestern (4-4 for the season) at Miami, Fla. (5-3) tonight. It would be the Wildcats' fourth successive winning season if they can cope with the Hurricanes' aerial display.

2 Share Top Honors In Run-Walk Races

CINCINNATI (AP)—Felton Hill of Miami University of Ohio and Jack Mortland of the Ohio Track Club at Worthington shared top honors Thursday in the 52nd annual Cincinnati Elks Lodge road race and heel and toe walking contest.

Hill, a freshman from Stony Creek, Ont., Canada, ran the 6 1-8-mile course in 32:42.5, while Mortland walked the same route in 50.00.5. The competitors began at Fort Thomas, Ky., crossed the L & N Bridge over the Ohio River and finished in downtown Cincinnati.

Ten walkers and 28 runners started.

Green Bay Eyes 2nd Straight

Packers Close To Western Title After Topping Lions

By JERRY GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP)—With or without Pvt. Paul Hornung, only a complete collapse will halt the Green Bay Packers' drive to their second straight Western Division title in the National Football League.

The Packers, with Hornung in the lineup, defeated the Detroit Lions, their closest pursuers, 17-9 Thursday. The victory, on a muddy field before 55,662 soaked fans and a national television audience left the Packers 2½ games ahead of the Lions.

Just one victory in their remaining three games will send the Packers into the Dec. 31 NFL championship game with the Eastern Division champion.

"We're not having a celebration —not yet," said Coach Vince Lombardi, the man who built the Packers from a doormat to a division champion in two years. "But obviously we're in great shape, needing only one more win to take it."

George Wilson, whose Lions had made a remarkable comeback by losing only once in six games until running into the Packers, agreed the race in the West has ended.

"We still have an outside chance, but it's a mighty slim one," moaned Wilson.

Hornung and soldier-teammates Boyd Dowler and Ray Nitschke are available on a game-to-game basis. The Army granted them and John Gordy of Detroit passes to play Thursday.

It was the first football in 11 days for Hornung, the NFL's leading scorer. He appeared rusty and the thick mud handicapped his running.

But he caught a key 26-yard pass in the Packers' 40-yard drive that resulted in their winning touchdown on the first play of the final period.

The Packers now will take a few days off while the New York Giants and Cleveland Browns will play the Eastern Division showdown Sunday at Cleveland. The Giants lead the Browns and the Philadelphia Eagles by one game.

The Eagles will be at home Sunday against the Dallas Cowboys. In Sunday's other games, Baltimore plays Washington, Los Angeles plays Chicago, Minnesota plays San Francisco and St. Louis plays Pittsburgh.

BG Beaten, 36-6, In Mercy Contest

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Mercy Bowl football game went into the books as a stunning win for underrated Fresno State, a loss for Bowling Green and a success for its cause—victims of the Cal Poly plane crash a year ago.

Quarterback Beau Carter, end Jan Barrett and the Fresno Bulldogs broke the Thanksgiving contest wide open in the third quarter with a three-touchdown explosion and went on to win, 36-6.

Said Bowling Green coach, Doyt Perry, who had never in seven years with the Falcons had so many points scored against him:

"We were just beaten by a better team. . . . I didn't think anybody could beat us that bad."

Bowling Green is champion of the large college Mid - America Conference. Unbeaten Fresno State is the kingpin of the small college California Collegiate Athletic Association.

"We just wanted to let them know that somebody out here wanted to hit. I'm tired of hearing that West Coast teams don't want to hit," said Fresno coach Cecil Coleman.

Carter threw touchdown strikes of 45 and 23 yards to Barrett and scored two touchdowns himself to lead the attack that featured 368 passing yards on 22 of 43 aerials completed.

Fullback Ray Bell plunged two yards to end a 51-yard drive for Bowling Green's only score and a short-lived 6-3 lead.

Jim Potts of East Liverpool set up Bowling Green's only touchdown by throwing to Larry Smith for 42 yards which carried to the Fresno State 7-yard line.

There were 33,145 spectators in Memorial Coliseum. Benefit officials said the game was a financial success.

East Wins, 21-12, In Gem Bowl At Erie

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — The East downed the West 21-12 in the annual Gem Bowl football game Thursday with Ohio gridders figuring in the scoring columns for both all-star squads.

First touchdown for the East came when Peter Joliff of Toledo took a 14-yard pass from Ronald Houseknecht of Muhlenberg. The West's first blood came in the second period when Bill Triplett of Miami University went over on a two-yard plunge.

Larry Cox of Xavier took a pass from Joe DeNone of Geneva for the conversion on the East's final tally. DeNone scored one TD and passed for another six-pointer.

Akron Garfield Wins

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — For the third straight year Akron Garfield's Golden Rams have copped the city's high school football championship. Garfield edged East 6-0 before 10,650 fans Thursday.

The motorcycle was the first vehicle in history to be gasoline driven, followed in order by the motorboat, the automobile and the airplane.

Injured Wolverines Attempt To Derail Ohio State

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Michigan, with a long casualty list, goes gunning for second-ranked Ohio State here Saturday in one of the Big Ten's great traditional football battles.

The Buckeyes, with everybody from All - America fullback Bob Ferguson on down in good health, are regarded a one - touchdown favorite in the 58th meeting of a series famous for weird football and surprise endings.

"Ohio probably hasn't even got a dent in its water bucket," commented a Michigan assistant coach as the Wolverines wound up practice with one regular definitely out and two others doubtful.

Some 80,000 fans and an NCAA regional television audience will watch as the unbeaten-but-once-tied Bucks bid for at least a share of the Big Ten title and a possible national championship.

It was still uncertain today if Michigan would have the full services of star halfback Bennie McRae or tackle Jon Schopf, a preseason All-America candidate.

Schopf, 230-pound bulwark of the U-M line, has missed the last four games with a shoulder separation and McRae, the flashy scatback, came up with a shoulder injury in last week's 23-14 victory over Iowa.

Ohio coach Woody Hayes needs this victory to complete his second unbeaten season since assuming the reins at Columbus.

An early touchdown might prove to be the key to victory for Michigan. Ohio State, in fashioning its 7-0-1 mark, has yet to give up a point in the first period and has only allowed seven points in the third period.

Michigan holds a commanding 35-18-4 edge in the long series with Ohio State, but has won only three times since 1952.

The Buckeyes, who earlier this week had what were described as their best full-scale practices of the season, wound up their preparations in Columbus with the annual "senior tackle" Thursday.

Of the starting offensive 11, only Ferguson and top pass receiving end Chuck Bryant took the traditional blast at the dummy, but the senior group does include several defensive standouts including co-captains Mike Ingram and Tom Perdue.

The tackling ceremony was capped when longtime assistant coach Ernie Godfrey threw his heft into the dummy with an authoritative thud. Godfrey is retiring after this season.

Departing from their usual custom, the Bucks planned to hold a light workout today in Michigan's stadium. They'll bed down tonight in Ypsilanti, Mich., before going back to Ann Arbor for the real thing.

Mobile Open Has 3 On Top

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—The 143 contestants looked to the skies for better weather today while they tried for about 60 openings in the last two rounds of the Mobile Open Golf Tournament.

Despite a soggy course and gusty winds in Thursday's first round, 33 players crowded both sides of par, which is 72 over the 6,800-yard Mobile municipal golf course. But only a dozen were below par.

Three players tied for the lead with 69s in the first round. They were Ken Still of Tacoma, Wash.; Leo Biagetti, a pro from Ashland, Ohio, and Gay Brewer, Jr., of Crystal River, Fla.

The field was to be trimmed to the low 60 scorers and ties after today's second round.

Co-favorites Arnold Palmer and Doug Sanders both had their troubles in the opening round. Palmer had trouble with his putter but posted a 37-35—72. Sanders came in late with a 74.

Bunched behind the leaders at 70 were Julius Boros, George Knudson, Tom Nieporte and Johnny Pott.

Giles Against Legalizing The Spitball

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Put down Warren Giles as flatly opposed to legalizing the spitball pitch, a proposal expected to provoke a big battle among baseball men next month.

Giles, National League chief, said today he believes revival of the spitter might cut down scoring and curtail home runs.

He said: "The home run is the most exciting play in baseball, comparable to the long touchdown in football and the field goal from far out in basketball.

"It is my firm belief that the long ball, particularly the home run, is what the fans come out to see."

Giles' opposite number in the American League, Joe Cronin, is already on record favoring return of the spitter.

He contended two weeks ago that "it's quite possible some pitchers could add three, four or even five years to their careers if they can use the spitball.

The big tussle is to come early next month when the major leagues rules committee must decide at its winter meeting in Tampa, Fla., whether to legalize the spitball again.

Managers and players in the big leagues want a firm decision on the matter, partly because, they say, some pitchers have been using the outlawed spitter to good advantage.

In its legal days, the spitter came when a pitcher put saliva, or some other foreign substance on the ball, or roughed up one side of the ball and served up a pitch with great spin that veered in an eccentric and unpredictable way.

Canadian, 18, Grabs Spotlight In AAU Classic

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Houston's track and field club is still team champion, but Canada's 18-year-old Bruce Kidd is the talk of the experts today after his victory in the National AAU 10,000 meter cross-country run.

Kidd sloshed through mud and a drizzling rain Thursday to beat a field of 120 in the annual event, held on the Bellarmime College campus. His time was 32 minutes, 2.6 seconds. John Gutknecht of the Baltimore Olympic Club was second, about 40 yards back, running the 6⅛ mile course in 32:08.

Houston, in winning the team championship for the third consecutive year, had 35 points, followed by Southern Illinois with 64, Baltimore Olympics 83, University of Chicago Track Club 87 and New York Athletic Club 98.

The Bobcats already owned the official conference championship, which is based on a rating system, and the best record among league teams (7-1). But that lone setback had been administered by Salem.

Browns Practice On Thanksgiving

CLEVELAND (AP)—It was a miserable, rainy day at League Park and it was Thanksgiving, but the Cleveland Browns, preparing for another crucial game Sunday, worked out as usual.

The Browns hope they'll have something to give thanks for Sunday night after the game with the New York Giants.

The formidable Giants, who lead the Eastern Division of the National Football League, one game ahead of the Browns and the Philadelphia Eagles, enjoyed a holiday Thursday. However, Coach Allie Sherman noted that his charges had started the week's work one day early—on Tuesday.

Sherman said Allen Webb, a rookie from Arnold College who made his first start for the Giants last Sunday against Pittsburgh, will be in the defensive backfield against the Browns.

The coach said Webb, called in after injuries sidelined regulars Dick Nolan and Bill Stits, did a fine job against the Steelers.

As for the injuries that have hit the Giants, Sherman was philosophical. "That's part of the game," he said. "A good team should be able to win even when it's hurting."

Considerable attention has been focused on Sunday's meeting between Sam Huff, the Giants' linebacker, and Jimmy Brown, the Browns' great fullback. Huff has been given credit for holding Brown to small yardage in some previous encounters.

Actually, the record shows that over the last four seasons (not including the second New York-Cleveland game in 1959, when Brown was sidelined by injuries in the first half) Jim's average against New York has been only slightly under his career average of 5.22 yards per carry.

Huff has been with the Giants since 1956, and Brown's average in eight games against the Giants since 1957 is 5.12 yards per carry.

In the division playoff against the Giants in 1958, Brown was held to eight yards on seven carries for a 1.1 yard average.

Last year he was held to 29 yards in 11 trips in the first game, but in the last game of the season Jim rolled up 110 yards in 14 tries for an average of 7.8.

Bluth, Ladewig Build Up Leads In Pin Classic

CHICAGO (AP)—Ray Bluth of St. Louis and Marion Ladewig of Grand Rapids, Mich., a pair of seasoned tournament veterans, built up commanding leads after the seventh round in the $48,000 fifth annual world's invitational bowling tournament.

With nine more rounds to go—four games each round for the men and three for the women—Bluth had a Petersen point total of 146-27. Second-place George Howard of Detroit had 141-39.

In the women's division, Mrs. Ladewig, winner in 1957 and again in 1960, had 102-31 points while Phyllis Notaro of Brant, N.Y., the current all-star champion, was second with 96-05.

Bluth built up his big lead by winning three matches Thursday, including a four-game sweep over defending champion Don Carter of St. Louis. Carter now is sixth in the 16-man standings.

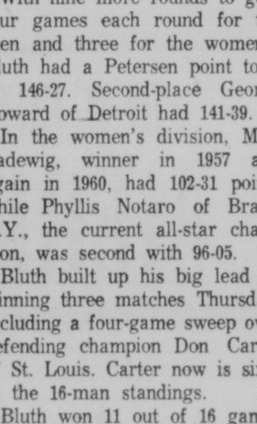

Bluth won 11 out of 16 games during the day and is averaging almost 266 for the 28 games he has bowled to date.

Mrs. Ladewig is averaging 202 for her 21 games.

3-Team Race In NHL Play

By The Associated Press

Red Kelly's three-goal performance and a couple of comebacks left the National Hockey League rocking along in a sizzling three-team race for first place.

Kelly's scoring heroics highlighted Toronto's 5-2 victory over Chicago Thursday night while Montreal and New York each overcome 3-1 deficits in winning their games. Montreal took Detroit 5-3 and New York beat Boston 4-3.

That left the Rangers in first place, just one point up on the Canadiens. Toronto is just one point further back in third.

New York player-coach Doug Harvey slapped home a shot that was deflected into the nets by Boston defenseman Leo Boivin for the winning margin with only 18 seconds left.

The Rangers were trailing 3-1 in the third period before Camile Henry tallied on a breakaway. Andy Hebenton tied it 3-3 only 25 seconds later.

Pierrre Pilote captains the Chicago Black Hawk hockey team.

McNeeley Eyes Heavy Title And Pro Football

By BOB SALMON
Associated Press Sports Writer

LYNNFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Tom McNeeley has a lot of reasons for wanting to win the heavyweight championship of the world.

It would thrill his pretty wife, Nancy, for instance. His husky 3-month-old son, Tommy III, would not be aware of the victory, to be sure, but he'd boast proudly of it in a few years.

And of course Boston, Massachusetts, New England and the entire United States would regard him as a conquering hero—the biggest upset winner champ in a long time.

But McNeeley has another—not so obvious—reason for wanting to knock out Floyd Patterson in Toronto Dec. 4. Tom wants to come back as the new champion and play professional football for the Boston Patriots of the American Football League. Then he'd be able to say he had done something different.

The young challenger seemed serious when he talked about it. He's been a football "nut" since he was a kid.

"No fooling," he said, "I'd really love to play football again. All the other heavyweight champions have something different in their lives or background to talk about. Patterson won the title back. Marciano retired undefeated. Gene Tunney was an expert on Shakespeare. I'd like to be the only heavyweight champion that won the title and then played pro football."

The challenger, 24, weighs 203 pounds right now. He hopes to go into the ring at "about 200, maybe 198 or 199." But with a different training regime as a gridder, McNeeley can visualize himself at a heftier weight for football.

"I'm too light for a tackle, which I played at Michigan State" he said. "But I'd go about 225 if I was playing football. Maybe I'd make a linebacker. I'd like that."

The patent system was established by Congress on July 4, 1836.

Bluth built up his big lead by winning three matches Thursday, including a four-game sweep over defending champion Don Carter of St. Louis. Carter now is sixth in the 16-man standings.

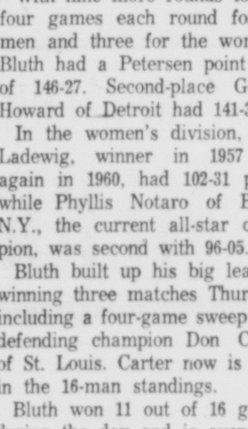

Bluth won 11 out of 16 games during the day and is averaging almost 266 for the 28 games he has bowled to date.

Mrs. Ladewig is averaging 202 for her 21 games.

3-Team Race In NHL Play

By The Associated Press

Red Kelly's three-goal performance and a couple of comebacks left the National Hockey League rocking along in a sizzling three-team race for first place.

Kelly's scoring heroics highlighted Toronto's 5-2 victory over Chicago Thursday night while Montreal and New York each overcome 3-1 deficits in winning their games. Montreal took Detroit 5-3 and New York beat Boston 4-3.

That left the Rangers in first place, just one point up on the Canadiens. Toronto is just one point further back in third.

New York player-coach Doug Harvey slapped home a shot that was deflected into the nets by Boston defenseman Leo Boivin for the winning margin with only 18 seconds left.

The Rangers were trailing 3-1 in the third period before Camile Henry tallied on a breakaway. Andy Hebenton tied it 3-3 only 25 seconds later.

McNeeley Eyes Heavy Title And Pro Football

By BOB SALMON
Associated Press Sports Writer

LYNNFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Tom McNeeley has a lot of reasons for wanting to win the heavyweight championship of the world.

It would thrill his pretty wife, Nancy, for instance. His husky 3-month-old son, Tommy III, would not be aware of the victory, to be sure, but he'd boast proudly of it in a few years.

And of course Boston, Massachusetts, New England and the entire United States would regard him as a conquering hero—the biggest upset winner champ in a long time.

But McNeeley has another—not so obvious—reason for wanting to knock out Floyd Patterson in Toronto Dec. 4. Tom wants to come back as the new champion and play professional football for the Boston Patriots of the American Football League. Then he'd be able to say he had done something different.

The young challenger seemed serious when he talked about it. He's been a football "nut" since he was a kid.

"No fooling," he said, "I'd really love to play football again. All the other heavyweight champions have something different in their lives or background to talk about. Patterson won the title back. Marciano retired undefeated. Gene Tunney was an expert on Shakespeare. I'd like to be the only heavyweight champion that won the title and then played pro football."

The challenger, 24, weighs 203 pounds right now. He hopes to go into the ring at "about 200, maybe 198 or 199." But with a different training regime as a gridder, McNeeley can visualize himself at a heftier weight for football.

"I'm too light for a tackle, which I played at Michigan State" he said. "But I'd go about 225 if I was playing football. Maybe I'd make a linebacker. I'd like that."

The patent system was established by Congress on July 4, 1836.

Benny Is Up For Grabs

Jack Benny is up for grabs among the TV networks, and where he will land next season nobody knows.

The veteran comedian's contract with CBS expires at the close of the current 1961-62 run.

An authoritative source has disclosed that talks with Benny's agents are "going on in all three places (the networks)," but nobody is grabbing yet because of a "very expensive" backlog rider attached to the deal.

Unlike many performers who want to be on TV less frequently, Benny likes doing a weekly half hour, but wants to make a new network deal including re-run rights to some 100 of his past shows which are on video tape.

The price he is asking for this backlog was not disclosed, but was said to be so steep that the networks were thinking twice about it.

A PERSISTENT rumor was confirmed by CBS News president Richard S Salant in an announcement that David Schoenbrun, the network's articulate Paris correspondent, will succeed Howard K. Smith as chief CBS Washington correspondent.

He will not, however, succeed Smith as general manager of the Washington news bureau. This administrative post, which Smith held in a dual role, is yet to be filled.

Schoenbrun was in New York on a "CBS Reports" assignment several weeks ago at the time Smith abruptly parted 20-year company with CBS in a difference over editorial policies.

At the time, Schoenbrun insisted he had not been offered the Washington job and was not sure he wanted to leave his long-held Paris post.

Now back in Paris, Schoenbrun will not move to Washington until after the first of the year. His successor in the French capital has not been named.

THE UNPARALLELED hurry by the networks to revamp their program lineups for the fall of 1962, almost a year away, continues to produce almost daily developments. Some new ones:

ABC announced a new half-hour situation comedy series titled "Young Love," starring Darryl Hickman, movie and TV performer, last regularly seen in "The Americans."

Filmed on location near Seattle, the new series will depict, the network said, "the trials and tribulations of married college undergraduates living in a houseboat colony off campus."

There is talk at CBS of expanding the new daytime "Calendar" show to a full hour five days a week.

Michigan Mother Of 3 Crowned As '62 Mrs. America

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Cleve B. Masson is a lucky fellow. Not only is his wife the new Mrs. America, but serving her the traditional breakfast in bed is no great problem—she seldom eats much in the morning.

Auburn-haired Lila Masson, a pretty 5-foot-5 mother of three, had her mind more on the extensive trips she will make in the next year on behalf of sponsors of Mrs. America, 1962.

"I've never traveled much" said Mrs. Masson, who lives in Redford Township, Mich., near Detroit. "I'm really looking forward to it."

Mrs. Masson, 39, was chosen Mrs. America Thursday in the climax of the rivalry that began Nov. 13 with arrival of homemaking queens from all 50 states and the District of Columbia.

Runner-up was Mrs. Arizona, Angelyn Almond of Phoenix. Mrs. Minnesota, Gloria Schultz of St. Paul, was third.

Mrs. Masson is a former receptionist and her husband is a retail store chain executive. They have been married 19 years.

Ohio Airman Fatally Injured In Ejection

TOKYO (AP)—The U.S. Navy has announced that Marine 1st Lt. John Chesney of Wilmington, Ohio, ejected from his F4D jet before it crashed 100 miles west of Tokyo Monday but died of injuries shortly after Japanese farmers found him.

The navy said Chesney was injured in an air accident which was being investigated. The plane crashed in a mountainous area in the Masamoto region of Nagano District.

Chesney was attached to the U.S. Marine Air Group at Atsugi Naval Air Station near Yokosuka.

His mother, Mrs. Imogene Downey Chesney, lives at 175 Richardson St., Wilmington.

Kent State U. Psychologist Uses Mynas In Speech Study

KENT, Ohio (AP)—Dr. Joseph H. Grosslight, Kent State University psychologist, can't put babies in his laboratory, but he thinks he may have found a substitute for studying aspects of speech development — the myna bird of India.

"Since it is not possible to work with babies, we are using mynas in an effort to gather information that might be applicable to humans," said Dr. Grosslight.

He is hopeful his research, aided by $29,200 in grants from the National Science Foundation, eventually will help explain some of the unknown behind human speech development.

Grosslight said he often has wondered if the response a child wins by crying might not have a bearing on how quickly the child learns to speak. Would a normal baby whose wants were met as soon as he cried learn to speak sooner than a baby left to cry it out

Mynas, who have a reputation for being pretty good talkers, can be taught to vocalize only at specific times and in certain environments, Dr. Grosslight learned.

The psychologist put six mynas in individual soundproof boxes equipped with automatic feeding stations.

All are being taught to speak by means of a tape recorder playing a single word or phrase. The theory being tested is that those rewarded for vocalizing will learn to talk more quickly than others.

A big problem has been the health of Dr. Grosslight's subjects. Four mynas, including the psychologist's most advanced talker, have died in the last few months.

2 From Ohio U. Leave For Visit To Nigeria

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Two representatives of Ohio University leave today on a visit to northern Nigeria where they will assess the possibilities of developing a teachers' college there.

Ohio U. was the first to open a teacher training program in the African country's western region. If such a program is started in the north it will be the first U.S.-sponsored program of its kind there.

THE UNPARALLELED hurry by the networks to revamp their program lineups for the fall of 1962, almost a year away, continues to produce almost daily developments. Some new ones:

ABC announced a new half-hour situation comedy series titled "Young Love," starring Darryl Hickman, movie and TV performer, last regularly seen in "The Americans."

Filmed on location near Seattle, the new series will depict, the network said, "the trials and tribulations of married college undergraduates living in a houseboat colony off campus."

CBS is reported looking at a situation comedy series titled "Amy," starring a 10-year-old actress named Jan Rhodes, currently in the road company of "Gypsy."

There is talk at CBS of expanding the new daytime "Calendar" show to a full hour five days a week.

Michigan Mother Of 3 Crowned As '62 Mrs. America

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Cleve B. Masson is a lucky fellow. Not only is his wife the new Mrs. America, but serving her the traditional breakfast in bed is no great problem—she seldom eats much in the morning.

Auburn-haired Lila Masson, a pretty 5-foot-5 mother of three, had her mind more on the extensive trips she will make in the next year on behalf of sponsors of Mrs. America, 1962.

"I've never traveled much" said Mrs. Masson, who lives in Redford Township, Mich., near Detroit. "I'm really looking forward to it."

Mrs. Masson, 39, was chosen Mrs. America Thursday in the climax of the rivalry that began Nov. 13 with arrival of homemaking queens from all 50 states and the District of Columbia.

Runner-up was Mrs. Arizona, Angelyn Almond of Phoenix. Mrs. Minnesota, Gloria Schultz of St. Paul, was third.

Mrs. Masson is a former receptionist and her husband is a retail store chain executive. They have been married 19 years.

Ohio Airman Fatally Injured In Ejection

TOKYO (AP)—The U.S. Navy has announced that Marine 1st Lt. John Chesney of Wilmington, Ohio, ejected from his F4D jet before it crashed 100 miles west of Tokyo Monday but died of injuries shortly after Japanese farmers found him.

The navy said Chesney was injured in an air accident which was being investigated. The plane crashed in a mountainous area in the Masamoto region of Nagano District.

Chesney was attached to the U.S. Marine Air Group at Atsugi Naval Air Station near Yokosuka.

His mother, Mrs. Imogene Downey Chesney, lives at 175 Richardson St., Wilmington.

CHARITY GOAL EXCEEDED. Trophies were presented by the Student Council of East Liverpool High School Wednesday afternoon to representatives of homerooms which placed first and second in the combined charities drive. Left to right are Kay Hocking, presenting a trophy to Vicki Lamborn of Room 106, second place, and Ted Waters of Room 111, first place, receiving a trophy from Dave Thorne. The goal was $200 and students gave $227.50 to be shared by five charities, the Red Cross, Columbiana County TB Fund, Community Fund, Cancer Fund and the March of Dimes. Miss Lamborn and Waters are also members of the Student Council, which sponsored the drive.

Kent State U. Psychologist Uses Mynas In Speech Study

KENT, Ohio (AP)—Dr. Joseph H. Grosslight, Kent State University psychologist, can't put babies in his laboratory, but he thinks he may have found a substitute for studying aspects of speech development — the myna bird of India.

"Since it is not possible to work with babies, we are using mynas in an effort to gather information that might be applicable to humans," said Dr. Grosslight.

He is hopeful his research, aided by $29,200 in grants from the National Science Foundation, eventually will help explain some of the unknown behind human speech development.

Grosslight said he often has wondered if the response a child wins by crying might not have a bearing on how quickly the child learns to speak. Would a normal baby whose wants were met as soon as he cried learn to speak sooner than a baby left to cry it out

Mynas, who have a reputation for being pretty good talkers, can be taught to vocalize only at specific times and in certain environments, Dr. Grosslight learned.

The psychologist put six mynas in individual soundproof boxes equipped with automatic feeding stations.

All are being taught to speak by means of a tape recorder playing a single word or phrase. The theory being tested is that those rewarded for vocalizing will learn to talk more quickly than others.

A big problem has been the health of Dr. Grosslight's subjects. Four mynas, including the psychologist's most advanced talker, have died in the last few months.

2 From Ohio U. Leave For Visit To Nigeria

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Two representatives of Ohio University leave today on a visit to northern Nigeria where they will assess the possibilities of developing a teachers' college there.

Making the trip at the invitation of the State Department's Agency for International Development are Dr. Russell A. Milliken, assistant dean of the college of education, and Dr. William H. Cooper, associate professor of education. They plan to return to the United States in mid-December.

Ohio U. was the first to open a teacher training program in the African country's western region. If such a program is started in the north it will be the first U.S.-sponsored program of its kind there.

Officer's Car Stolen As He Writes Ticket

GOODLAND, Kan. (AP)—While writing out a traffic ticket in downtown Goodland Wednesday night, policeman Keith Nagel had his car stolen.

Nagel had alighted from his car, leaving the motor running, to write out the summons. While he was so engaged, someone drove off with the police car.

It was found abandoned two hours later on a nearby residential street.

You Can Survive Atomic Attack

Nuclear War Will Not Doom World

By PROF. WILLARD F. LIBBY

Dramatic fictional accounts picture all people in the world dying from fallout wafted around the world after a nuclear war.

This is not true.

Scientists agree the increased amounts of long-lasting fallout

Last In A Series.

could harm many innocent people in countries not involved in a war, as well as people who were.

They disagree about the extent to which this fallout might increase cases of cancer or leukemia, or cause genetic deformities in future generations.

But all agree this fallout could not cause extinction of all people, everywhere, or of all living things.

Innocents would suffer.

THERE SEEMS little doubt there would be an appreciable rise in cancer and leukemia in the Northern Hemisphere in the event of an American - Russian war, and about one-third as much of an increase in the Southern Hemisphere.

The added radiation from long-lasting fallout might also cause tens of thousands more genetic casualties around the world in the following 50 years. Some scientists predict more than that.

By genetic casualties are meant babies born with deformities due to radiation damage to their parents' genes, stillborn babies, or unborn infants lost through miscarriages caused by radition effects.

The worldwide effects would depend upon the bombing pattern, how many bombs were used, the types, their power, and how much of the fission products were carried aloft into the stratosphere, to settle down weeks, months, or years later as lingering fallout.

WE MUST keep in mind the distinction between immediate and very intense fallout, downwind from a bombed area, and the finer particles of strontium-90 and cesium-137 which could drift down slowly for years afterward.

In any Soviet - American nuclear war, persons in South America and Australia, just for two examples, would escape the intense, immediate fallout, against which people in the combatant nations would need protective fallout shelters.

Suppose an enemy directed his main attack at our missile bases, exploding warheads on the ground to wreck buried installations.

In that case, other countries would receive less future fallout than if bombs were exploded in the air to blow down or set fire to cities.

More of the fission products would rise into the air from bursts in the air. Ground bursts would cause heavier local fallout in the bombed country itself.

There has been much debate concerning the possible harmful effects on humans from strontium and cesium slowly sifting down from bomb tests in the last 10 years.

—:—

Others hold the effects are very small, and certainly too small to be measured.

Neither viewpoint can be conclusively proven yet, mainly because no one knows exactly how little radiation it may take actually to cause various types of damage.

We do, however, know a good deal about natural or background radiation, from cosmic rays, from uranium, thorium and radium in the earth and rocks around us, from radioactive carbon and radioactive potassium elements which have always been part of all human bodies.

We do know that this level of natural radiation has been boosted on the average only a few per cent by all the fallout from all past nuclear tests up to 1958, and until the Soviets recently resumed testing.

UNTIL THE Soviets resumed, Atomic Energy Commission that devices tested had a total power it was officially estimated by the or yield of 174 megatons which released varying amounts of fission products, including small proportions of strontium and cesium. Tests bombs or devices of this total yield added the few per cent increase over natural radiation.

Nuclear war, if enough weapons were used, could increase this exposure from long-lasting fallout by 20 to 30 times, or perhaps more.

That could mean a doubling, or even trebling, of radiation from natural exposure.

We can estimate on the basis of our experience with the test fallout and the natural radiation that this could not have damaging effects leading to anything like annihilation upon the people around the world.

DISCIPLES OF THE DANCE. The "Buckskin Belles and Bows," national dancing champions of Lexington, Ky., will appear in East Liverpool's Christmas parade Friday and present a public performance Saturday night at 8 at Westgate auditorium. A dozen of the 38-member troupe are pictured here engaged in the "Virginia Reel," one of their many dances. Attired in appropriate period costumes, the boys and girls ranging in age from 14 to 18 exhibit dances from Old Europe to the present style of the 20th Century. They will tour Europe next year. The show will be sponsored here by Columbiana County Explorer Scouts. Admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. The dancers will ride in the parade on two floats.

Youngstown Council Won't Give To Fund

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — City Council has decided not to contribute to a fund to finance a joint campaign by communities in northeastern Ohio fighting a rate increase sought by the East Ohio Gas Co.

The city administration had backed an ordinance to contribute to a unified battle that has been urged by Cleveland law director Ralph S. Locher. However, Council decided to seek data locally on the basis for the East Ohio request.

Diver Finds 2 Bodies In Rail Span Collapse

NITRO, W.VA. (AP)—A diver recovered Thursday the bodies of the two crewmen who died when a diesel locomotive unit fell into the Pocatalico River near here after a bridge collapsed.

The victims were R. A. Turner, 48, fireman, and Charles O. Mulford, 34, brakeman, both of Middleport, Ohio.

The recovery effort began soon after the Tuesday morning wreck which involved a 73-car New York Central freight train pulled by four diesel units.

Efforts to raise the two fallen diesel units from the river have been unsuccessful so far, but the NYC called a heavier rail crane to the scene.

Motorist, 25, Killed In Akron Accident

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A car went out of control on West Bartges Street early today and hit a parked auto, killing Willie Richardson, 25, of Akron.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Parents Should Aid With Homework

You don't need to have a college degree, or even a high school diploma, to be able to help your grade - school child with his lessons. My father barely went beyond the fourth grade. Yet I can imagine no expert who could have done better than he did in helping me at home with my lessons when I was in the grades. "Garry, get your books," he said, if right after supper every evening I was not sitting on the bench back of the kitchen table over my lessons. When I read something aloud from a book he would say, "Now say that in your own words."

Dr. Garry Meyers

WHEN I ASKED him to pronounce my spelling words and made a single error, he would say, "Go back and study them."

In number work he would tolerate no haste or mistakes. He always emphasized accuracy and carefulness.

When something on the farm was to be built or sold, he would figure it out in his head before I had barely set down the figures on paper. I've often wished I could be as smart as he was.

No, you don't need to have degrees and diplomas to be able to help your child in the grades to be a diligent and efficient student at home.

As soon as he begins to read, spell, or cipher at school, prove to him you are interested and want him to do these well.

—:—

LISTEN APPRECIATIVELY as he shows you how he can read. Help him learn to read for meaning. With the words he must spell, show him how to study each word over and over as he looks at it until he can spell it without a mistake.

As he does his number work, guide him to do it with precision. When he has a verbal problem to reason out, lead him to read it carefully to see what it means before he tries to solve it.

When he prepares written work, lead him to do it neatly and carefully. Be ready to spell any word for him or to help him find out from the dictionary how it is spelled.

Long before he has any assigned homework, read aloud to him every evening and see to it that as soon as he can read, he reads at a regular daily period of, say, 30 to 60 minutes. See that he does some mental work every evening.

—:—

AS HE GOES farther on in the grades, set a regular reading period for him, whether he has any homework or not.

Let him observe you and Dad reading every evening. Bring him up in a reading family.

My bulletins, "Parents and the Child's Homework" and "Home Helps in Reading, Spelling, Arithmetic and Handwriting," may be had by sending a self - addressed stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Last Of 3 R's—Rithmetic, Undergoing A Face-Lifting

WASHINGTON (AP) — The last of the three R's—'rithmetic—is undergoing a face-lifting in many high schools.

Instead of concentrating on such things as logarithms, elaborate factoring, and proving solid geometry, many youngsters are spending part of their time on something called "new mathematics." It includes such items as "additive identity," "additive inverse" and the "communative property of addition."

Introduction of what some call "new mathematics" has stirred up arguments among educators about its value.

In its defense, Dr. G. Baley Price, chairman of the department of mathematics at the University of Kansas, says:

"The technological revolution now in progress requires that new mathematics be taught in our schools, that the emphasis be shifted in the teaching of many subjects already included in our mathematics courses, and that we increase the production of mathematicians and mathematics teachers."

In opposition is Dr. Morris Kline, director of the division of electromagnetic research of the New York University Institute of Mathematical Sciences.

He says: "The problem is not that our curriculum is outmoded, but that we have done a very bad job of presenting the material we have taught."

Changes may be needed, Dr. Kline says, But "all talk about modern society's requiring a totally new kind of mathematics is sheer nonsense."

The case for the new program is presented in a manual entitled "The Revolution in School Mathematics" published Thursday by the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics, a division of the National Education Association. Dr. Price is one of the authors.

Algeria was invaded by the Romans in 146 B. C., later by the Vandals, Byzantines, Arabs and Turks.

Midland Sets Police Tests

Dates have been set for examinations for eligibility lists for Midland patrolman and sergeant, Benny Pultanovich, Police Civil Service Commission secretary, announced.

Examinations for patrolman will be held Friday, Dec. 8, at 7 p.m. in Council Chambers in the Borough Building. The sergeant tests will be held Nov. 30 at 7 p. m.

Applications for the positions of patrolmen, with a starting salary of $370 per month, will be received at the office of the borough secretary each weekday, Monday through Friday, between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. The deadline for applications is Dec. 8 at 4 p. m.

Applicants for patrolman must pass satisfactory physical and medical examinations preceding written and oral tests. American citizens over 21 and under 35 are eligible.

Application blanks may be obtained at the police department in the Borough Building.

The borough is required by state law to renew the patrolman list each year. New patrolmen are then appointed whenever a vacancy occurs.

Ex-Commissioner's Funeral Set Saturday

CLEVELAND (AP) — Services will be at 10 a.m. Saturday for a Clevelander who served as a Cuyahoga County commissioner longer than anyone else. He was Joseph F. Gorman, 75, who died Thursday in his suburban Shaker Heights home after a stroke.

Gorman, a Democrat, served on the board 1930-58. In private business, he was board chairman of the Lime & Stone Co.

Indicates Chances Slim

Rockefeller Still Hopeful

MERAUKE, New Guinea (AP) —Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said today he is still hopeful his son Michael is alive and that he will remain in New Guinea a few more days.

But the New York governor indicated the chances of his son's survival were slim, saying: "I am a realist and I know what he faces if he reached that jungle."

(A dispatch from Hollandia, the capital of Dutch New Guinea, said Gov. Rockefeller was expected to return there Sunday and to leave for New York Monday.)

Michael set out to swim more than two miles through shark-infested waters for shore after his catamaran raft capsized last weekend in treacherous currents off the wild jungle coast. No trace of him has been found.

The governor and his daughter Mary rushed by plane from New York to help in the search.

Clinging to hope, the governor said: "We want to be on hand to move at a moment's notice."

Gov. Rockefeller flew over the tangled vegetation for a personal search of the area less than an hour after arriving in Merauke Tuesday.

He and his daughter Mary Strawbridge, Michael's twin, studied the terrain in obvious dismay as the DC3 covered the coast from the village of Merauke to the village of Agats.

The governor and his daughter traded a pair of 50-power binoculars back and forth as the plane dropped down to 1,000 feet over the jungle. Occasionally one would make a remark, but mostly they were silent. Most often the governor appeared to be reassuring Mary, whose confidence her 23-year-old brother would be found alive was obviously shaken by the air tour.

Once, over a native village half a mile inland, the governor told his daughter: "Look—if he had gone in anywhere around here, he would have made his way to that village."

Dutch New Guinea's coastal land mass stretches flat to the horizon and all of it is covered with a thick matting of stubby mangrove trees. Broad rivers cut the shore and into each flow thick muddy streams.

Parts of the coast have narrow sand beaches, but in most places the dirty green mangrove grows down to the water's edge.

Dutch officials claim a man could exist for weeks in this jungle without getting word out or being spotted.

There is no way of searching thoroughly except by the bush-by-bush method.

Guarding the jungle from the sea is a 300-yard-wide mud bank. Crocodiles lay in the mud near the shore. Outside the mud, sharks, some 20 feet long, patrol the shallow water. Residents say the sharks are unpredictable and sometimes do not disturb swimmers, but there aren't many who take a chance.

Gov. Rockefeller's survey traced his son's journey by catamaran — a double-hulled native raft—from the village of Agats to where he reportedly set off to swim to shore.

What lies in store for a man landing on this hostile coast?

He can subsist on roots, herbs, a few grasses and river water.

But he also faces crocodiles, poisonous snakes and wild animals, plus natives who, although now officially classified as friendly, only a few years ago were headhunters.

As the plane made a final circle, one of the governor's companions commented: "It's a hell of a place to get lost."

Michael's Dutch companion, Rene S. Wassing, who stayed with the catamaran and was rescued Sunday, said he argued for five minutes with the young American before Rockefeller shoved off for the shore.

"I disclaimed all responsibility" said Wassing, a collector of primitive art from Amsterdam.

Wassing said their craft was caught in heavy seas near the mouth of the Eilanden River Saturday and capsized. He said he and Michael agreed "we have a 50-50 chance either way."

(The commander of the U.S. Pacific Fleet, in a message to the Dutch navy commander in New Guinea, offered U.S. patrol planes, a carrier with helicopters and surface ships to aid in the search. But a spokesman for the Dutch Defense Ministry said it was his impression that the U.S. help would not be needed because "adequate forces of all types are now available for the search.")

The governor had planned to take an active part in the search Thursday — Thanksgiving — but changed his mind and established a command post at the home of District Commissioner E. Jansen.

You Can Survive Atomic Attack

Nuclear War Will Not Doom World

By PROF. WILLARD F. LIBBY

Dramatic fictional accounts picture all people in the world dying from fallout wafted around the world after a nuclear war.

This is not true.

Scientists agree the increased amounts of long-lasting fallout

Last In A Series.

could harm many innocent people in countries not involved in a war, as well as people who were.

They disagree about the extent to which this fallout might increase cases of cancer or leukemia, or cause genetic deformities in future generations.

But all agree this fallout could not cause extinction of all people, everywhere, or of all living things.

Innocents would suffer.

—:—

THERE SEEMS little doubt there would be an appreciable rise in cancer and leukemia in the Northern Hemisphere in the event of an American - Russian war, and about one-third as much of an increase in the Southern Hemisphere.

The added radiation from long-lasting fallout might also cause tens of thousands more genetic casualties around the world in the following 50 years. Some scientists predict more than that.

By genetic casualties are meant babies born with deformities due to radiation damage to their parents' genes, stillborn babies, or unborn infants lost through miscarriages caused by radition effects.

The worldwide effects would depend upon the bombing pattern, how many bombs were used, the types, their power, and how much of the fission products were carried aloft into the stratosphere, to settle down weeks, months, or years later as lingering fallout.

WE MUST keep in mind the distinction between immediate and very intense fallout, downwind from a bombed area, and the finer particles of strontium-90 and cesium-137 which could drift down slowly for years afterward.

In any Soviet - American nuclear war, persons in South America and Australia, just for two examples, would escape the intense, immediate fallout, against which people in the combatant nations would need protective fallout shelters.

Suppose an enemy directed his main attack at our missile bases, exploding warheads on the ground to wreck buried installations.

In that case, other countries would receive less future fallout than if bombs were exploded in the air to blow down or set fire to cities.

More of the fission products would rise into the air from bursts in the air. Ground bursts would cause heavier local fallout in the bombed country itself.

There has been much debate concerning the possible harmful effects on humans from strontium and cesium slowly sifting down from bomb tests in the last 10 years.

—:—

SOME scientists hold that this fallout from tests already is probably causing a bit more bone cancer and leukemia, and dooming thousands of unborn children to defects during the next 50 years.

Others hold the effects are very small, and certainly too small to be measured.

Neither viewpoint can be conclusively proven yet, mainly because no one knows exactly how little radiation it may take actually to cause various types of damage.

We do, however, know a good deal about natural or background radiation, from cosmic rays, from uranium, thorium and radium in the earth and rocks around us, from radioactive carbon and radioactive potassium elements which have always been part of all human bodies.

We do know that this level of natural radiation has been boosted on the average only a few per cent by all the fallout from all past nuclear tests up to 1958, and until the Soviets recently resumed testing.

UNTIL THE Soviets resumed, Atomic Energy Commission that devices tested had a total power it was officially estimated by the or yield of 174 megatons which released varying amounts of fission products, including small proportions of strontium and cesium. Tests bombs or devices of this total yield added the few per cent increase over natural radiation.

Nuclear war, if enough weapons were used, could increase this exposure from long-lasting fallout by 20 to 30 times, or perhaps more.

That could mean a doubling, or even trebling, of radiation from natural exposure.

We can estimate on the basis of our experience with the test fallout and the natural radiation that this could not have damaging effects leading to anything like annihilation upon the people around the world.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Parents Should Aid With Homework

You don't need to have a college degree, or even a high school diploma, to be able to help your grade - school child with his lessons. My father barely went beyond the fourth grade. Yet I can imagine no expert who could have done better than he did in helping me at home with my lessons when I was in the grades. "Garry, get your books," he said, if right after supper every evening I was not sitting on the bench back of the kitchen table over my lessons. When I read something aloud from a book he would say, "Now say that in your own words."

WHEN I ASKED him to pronounce my spelling words and made a single error, he would say, "Go back and study them."

In number work he would tolerate no haste or mistakes. He always emphasized accuracy and carefulness.

When something on the farm was to be built or sold, he would figure it out in his head before I had barely set down the figures on paper. I've often wished I could be as smart as he was.

No, you don't need to have degrees and diplomas to be able to help your child in the grades to be a diligent and efficient student at home.

As soon as he begins to read, spell, or cipher at school, prove to him you are interested and want him to do these well.

—:—

LISTEN APPRECIATIVELY as he shows you how he can read. Help him learn to read for meaning. With the words he must spell, show him how to study each word over and over as he looks at it until he can spell it without a mistake.

As he does his number work, guide him to do it with precision. When he has a verbal problem to reason out, lead him to read it carefully to see what it means before he tries to solve it.

When he prepares written work, lead him to do it neatly and carefully. Be ready to spell any word for him or to help him find out from the dictionary how it is spelled.

Long before he has any assigned homework, read aloud to him every evening and see to it that as soon as he can read, he reads at a regular daily period of, say, 30 to 60 minutes. See that he does some mental work every evening.

—:—

AS HE GOES farther on in the grades, set a regular reading period for him, whether he has any homework or not.

Let him observe you and Dad reading every evening. Bring him up in a reading family.

My bulletins, "Parents and the Child's Homework" and "Home Helps in Reading, Spelling, Arithmetic and Handwriting," may be had by sending a self - addressed stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Indicates Chances Slim

Rockefeller Still Hopeful

MERAUKE, New Guinea (AP) —Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said today he is still hopeful his son Michael is alive and that he will remain in New Guinea a few more days.

But the New York governor indicated the chances of his son's survival were slim, saying: "I am a realist and I know what he faces if he reached that jungle."

(A dispatch from Hollandia, the capital of Dutch New Guinea, said Gov. Rockefeller was expected to return there Sunday and to leave for New York Monday.)

Michael set out to swim more than two miles through shark-infested waters for shore after his catamaran raft capsized last weekend in treacherous currents off the wild jungle coast. No trace of him has been found.

The governor and his daughter Mary rushed by plane from New York to help in the search.

Clinging to hope, the governor said: "We want to be on hand to move at a moment's notice."

Gov. Rockefeller flew over the tangled vegetation for a personal search of the area less than an hour after arriving in Merauke Tuesday.

He and his daughter Mary Strawbridge, Michael's twin, studied the terrain in obvious dismay as the DC3 covered the coast from the village of Merauke to the village of Agats.

The governor and his daughter traded a pair of 50-power binoculars back and forth as the plane dropped down to 1,000 feet over the jungle. Occasionally one would make a remark, but mostly they were silent. Most often the governor appeared to be reassuring Mary, whose confidence her 23-year-old brother would be found alive was obviously shaken by the air tour.

Once, over a native village half a mile inland, the governor told his daughter: "Look—if he had gone in anywhere around here, he would have made his way to that village."

Dutch New Guinea's coastal land mass stretches flat to the horizon and all of it is covered with a thick matting of stubby mangrove trees. Broad rivers cut the shore and into each flow thick muddy streams.

Parts of the coast have narrow sand beaches, but in most places the dirty green mangrove grows down to the water's edge.

Dutch officials claim a man could exist for weeks in this jungle without getting word out or being spotted.

There is no way of searching thoroughly except by the bush-by-bush method.

Guarding the jungle from the sea is a 300-yard-wide mud bank. Crocodiles lay in the mud near the shore. Outside the mud, sharks, some 20 feet long, patrol the shallow water. Residents say the sharks are unpredictable and sometimes do not disturb swimmers, but there aren't many who take a chance.

Gov. Rockefeller's survey traced his son's journey by catamaran — a double-hulled native raft—from the village of Agats to where he reportedly set off to swim to shore.

What lies in store for a man landing on this hostile coast?

He can subsist on roots, herbs, a few grasses and river water.

But he also faces crocodiles, poisonous snakes and wild animals, plus natives who, although now officially classified as friendly, only a few years ago were headhunters.

As the plane made a final circle, one of the governor's companions commented: "It's a hell of a place to get lost."

Michael's Dutch companion, Rene S. Wassing, who stayed with the catamaran and was rescued Sunday, said he argued for five minutes with the young American before Rockefeller shoved off for the shore.

"I disclaimed all responsibility" said Wassing, a collector of primitive art from Amsterdam.

Wassing said their craft was caught in heavy seas near the mouth of the Eilanden River Saturday and capsized. He said he and Michael agreed "we have a 50-50 chance either way."

(The commander of the U.S. Pacific Fleet, in a message to the Dutch navy commander in New Guinea, offered U.S. patrol planes, a carrier with helicopters and surface ships to aid in the search. But a spokesman for the Dutch Defense Ministry said it was his impression that the U.S. help would not be needed because "adequate forces of all types are now available for the search.")

The governor had planned to take an active part in the search Thursday — Thanksgiving — but changed his mind and established a command post at the home of District Commissioner E. Jansen.

Kidnap Trial Nearing Close

CLEVELAND (AP) — A federal court jury trying two Lorain men for kidnaping under the Lindbergh law was to hear final testimony today.

Logan Mullins, 26, was expected to complete his testimony. He and George E. Bently, 43, are accused of forcibly taking three women from Avon Lake to Jackhorn, Ky., last July.

Bentley testified earlier this week that the seizure of the women resulted from a dispute with Mrs. Dorothy M. Stancil, 42, of suburban Lakewood, when he tried for a reconciliation with Miss Patsy Jo Ramsey, 23. Bentley had lived with Miss Ramsey, of suburban Parma, but they separated last spring.

He said Miss Ramsey agreed to the trip to get their infant son, Jed, in Kentucky.

The third woman Bentley and Mullins are accused of taking forcibly is Mrs. Sandra Goslin Davison, 22, of Brownsville, Pa.

Bentley told the court he acted in a rage when he slugged Mrs. Stancil with a lug wrench, fracturing her jaw and causing other injuries.

Mullins testified Wednesday that he did not want to go but was forced by Bentley to join in the 10-hour trip to Jackhorn.

The jury trying the case in the court of U.S. District Judge Charles J. McNamee has three courses: Sentence the defendants to death or life imprisonment or set them free. Under the Lindbergh law the charge cannot be reduced.

2 Officers Hurt Trying To Quiet Youths At Game

CLEVELAND (AP)—Two Cleveland detectives suffered minor injuries as they tried to quiet what they called a disorderly crowd of 100 ot 300 youths at Thursday's city championship high school football game.

Police said the ruckus, on a ramp beneath a section of the stadium before the game, apparently had nothing to do with the contest between Holy Name and Cathedral Latin.

Detective Sam B. Stimmel said he tried to quiet the crowd of youths, who were jostling other fans and annoying vendors. When he asked them to go to their seats, one of them swung on him, Stimmel said.

He hit back, and the youth grappled with him, the detective reported. The youth, 16, was turned over to juvenile authorities. Stimmel was treated for abrasions and contusions.

Also treated at the hospital was Detective Russ Wolf, who came to Stimmel's aid. Detective Clarence M. Smart and Policewoman Frances Kidd were roughed up.

Police said many of the youths in the crowd were Negroes, but there was no indication racial issues were involved.

Sealed bids will be received by the undersigned, the Fiscal Officer of the City of East Liverpool, herein referred to as the municipality, in the County of Columbiana, Ohio, at his office in the Municipal Hall in the municipality, the address of which is 130 West Sixth Street, East Liverpool, Ohio, until twelve noon, Eastern Standard Time, on the 4th day of December, 1961, at which time the bids will be publicly opened and read, for the purchase of bonds of the municipality in the aggregate amount of $36,700, authorized by ordinance passed October 16, 1961. Bids shall be sealed and endorsed "Bid for Street Improvement Bonds."

Said bonds shall be dated the first day of December, 1961, shall be in the denomination of $1,000 each, except bond No. 1 which shall be in the denomination of $1,700, shall draw interest payable semi-annually on the first days of June and December of each year beginning June 1, 1962, at the rate of 3% per annum. Anyone desiring to do so may present a bid for said bonds based upon their bearing a different rate of interest, but not in excess of 6% provided that where a fractional interest rate is bid, such fraction shall be one-eighth of one per cent or a multiple thereof.

Said bonds mature as follows: $7,700 on December 1, 1963; $8,000 on December 1, 1964; and $7,000 on December 1 in each of the years from 1965 to 1967, inclusive.

Said bonds are issued in anticipation of the collection of special assessments heretofore levied to pay the property owners' portion ($29,098.85) and the City's portion ($7,601.15) of the cost of improving certain streets and alleys between certain termini by constructing therein a sanitary sewer of hard burned vitrified sewer pipe.

Said bonds are payable at the office of the City Treasurer, East Liverpool, Ohio, and are supported by limited taxes and special assessments.

Said bids will be promptly considered, and said bonds will be sold to the highest bidder offering the lowest interest rate at not less than par and accrued interest. The lowest interest rate will be determined by calculating the total interest to stated maturity at the rate bid and deducting therefrom the premium bid. If each of two or more bids is the highest bid offering the lowest interest rate, the bonds will be awarded on such one of said highest bids as is chosen by lot. All bids must be accompanied by cash, bank cashier's or official's check, or certified check, payable to the municipality, or any combination thereof, aggregating one per cent of the par amount of the bonds bid for, upon condition that if the bid is accepted, the bidder will receive and pay for such bonds in accordance with the terms and provisions of this notice. No bank bidding for such bonds shall file its own cashier's or official's check, nor a check certified by it. Such security shall be held by the municipality unused pending delivery of the bonds and forfeited as full liquidated damages in the event of default by the successful bidder.

The proceedings for this issue have been taken under the supervision of Squire, Sanders & Dempsey, Bond Attorneys, Cleveland, Ohio, whose approving opinion may be obtained by the successful bidder at his expense. A complete transcript of proceedings and the printed bonds will be furnished by the municipality, together with a certificate showing no litigation pending or threatened at the time of the delivery, to enjoin delivery or to contest the validity of the bonds or the power to issue them or the levy or collection of taxes or special assessments for their payment.

In the event the interest on said bonds should by act of Congress or otherwise become subject to Federal Income Taxes prior to delivery, the successful bidder may refuse to accept delivery and in such event his bond or certified check shall be returned without interest.

It is contemplated that the legislative authority of the municipality will meet at eight o'clock p.m. on the 4th day of December, 1961, to consider said bids and make an award.

The bonds will be delivered at the office of the undersigned, or such other place as may be agreed on with the successful bidder; if outside of the limits of the municipality the bidder shall pay expense of delivery at that place.

Before making tender of the bonds at the place of delivery the municipality shall give written notice to the successful bidder not later than the third day before the proposed tender, of the fact that the bonds, transcript, no-litigation certificate, and approving opinion will be available for delivery and giving the date and hour for the tender at the said place of delivery, provided however that nothing herein contained shall prevent the making of a mutually agreeable arrangement for the delivery of the bonds either at the place fixed for delivery or elsewhere.

If such notice has not been given by the municipality or waived by the successful bidder and the bonds transcript, no-litigation certificate and approving opinion are not available for delivery to the successful bidder at such place of delivery on or before 12:00 o'clock noon of the 30th calendar day after the day fixed for the receipt of bids, and the successful bidder shall not be in default or any of his obligations, he shall have the right thereafter and so long as no such tender by the municipality shall yet have been made, to cancel the contract of purchase; such right to be exercised by delivering to the undersigned (or to his office during business hours) written notice of such cancellation. Such bidder shall thereupon be entitled to the return of the deposit which accompanied his bid and it shall be returned to him immediately.

The right is reserved to reject bids.

Kidnap Trial Nearing Close

CLEVELAND (AP) — A federal court jury trying two Lorain men for kidnaping under the Lindbergh law was to hear final testimony today.

Logan Mullins, 26, was expected to complete his testimony. He and George E. Bently, 43, are accused of forcibly taking three women from Avon Lake to Jackhorn, Ky., last July.

Bentley testified earlier this week that the seizure of the women resulted from a dispute with Mrs. Dorothy M. Stancil, 42, of suburban Lakewood, when he tried for a reconciliation with Miss Patsy Jo Ramsey, 23. Bentley had lived with Miss Ramsey, of suburban Parma, but they separated last spring.

He said Miss Ramsey agreed to the trip to get their infant son, Jed, in Kentucky.

The third woman Bentley and Mullins are accused of taking forcibly is Mrs. Sandra Goslin Davison, 22, of Brownsville, Pa.

Bentley told the court he acted in a rage when he slugged Mrs. Stancil with a lug wrench, fracturing her jaw and causing other injuries.

Mullins testified Wednesday that he did not want to go but was forced by Bentley to join in the 10-hour trip to Jackhorn.

The jury trying the case in the court of U.S. District Judge Charles J. McNamee has three courses: Sentence the defendants to death or life imprisonment or set them free. Under the Lindbergh law the charge cannot be reduced.

2 Officers Hurt Trying To Quiet Youths At Game

CLEVELAND (AP)—Two Cleveland detectives suffered minor injuries as they tried to quiet what they called a disorderly crowd of 100 ot 300 youths at Thursday's city championship high school football game.

Police said the ruckus, on a ramp beneath a section of the stadium before the game, apparently had nothing to do with the contest between Holy Name and Cathedral Latin.

Detective Sam B. Stimmel said he tried to quiet the crowd of youths, who were jostling other fans and annoying vendors. When he asked them to go to their seats, one of them swung on him, Stimmel said.

He hit back, and the youth grappled with him, the detective reported. The youth, 16, was turned over to juvenile authorities. Stimmel was treated for abrasions and contusions.

Also treated at the hospital was Detective Russ Wolf, who came to Stimmel's aid. Detective Clarence M. Smart and Policewoman Frances Kidd were roughed up.

Police said many of the youths in the crowd were Negroes, but there was no indication racial issues were involved.

LEGAL NOTICES

NOTICE OF SALE OF BONDS

Sealed bids will be received by the undersigned, the Fiscal Officer of the City of East Liverpool, herein referred to as the municipality, in the County of Columbiana, Ohio, at his office in the Municipal Hall in the municipality, the address of which is 130 West Sixth Street, East Liverpool, Ohio, until twelve noon, Eastern Standard Time, on the 4th day of December, 1961, at which time the bids will be publicly opened and read, for the purchase of bonds of the municipality in the aggregate amount of $36,700, authorized by ordinance passed October 16, 1961. Bids shall be sealed and endorsed "Bid for Street Improvement Bonds."

Said bonds shall be dated the first day of December, 1961, shall be in the denomination of $1,000 each, except bond No. 1 which shall be in the denomination of $1,700, shall draw interest payable semi-annually on the first days of June and December of each year beginning June 1, 1962, at the rate of 3% per annum. Anyone desiring to do so may present a bid for said bonds based upon their bearing a different rate of interest, but not in excess of 6% provided that where a fractional interest rate is bid, such fraction shall be one-eighth of one per cent or a multiple thereof.

Said bonds mature as follows: $7,700 on December 1, 1963; $8,000 on December 1, 1964; and $7,000 on December 1 in each of the years from 1965 to 1967, inclusive.

Said bonds are issued in anticipation of the collection of special assessments heretofore levied to pay the property owners' portion ($29,098.85) and the City's portion ($7,601.15) of the cost of improving certain streets and alleys between certain termini by constructing therein a sanitary sewer of hard burned vitrified sewer pipe.

Said bonds are payable at the office of the City Treasurer, East Liverpool, Ohio, and are supported by limited taxes and special assessments.

Said bids will be promptly considered, and said bonds will be sold to the highest bidder offering the lowest interest rate at not less than par and accrued interest. The lowest interest rate will be determined by calculating the total interest to stated maturity at the rate bid and deducting therefrom the premium bid. If each of two or more bids is the highest bid offering the lowest interest rate, the bonds will be awarded on such one of said highest bids as is chosen by lot. All bids must be accompanied by cash, bank cashier's or official's check, or certified check, payable to the municipality, or any combination thereof, aggregating one per cent of the par amount of the bonds bid for, upon condition that if the bid is accepted, the bidder will receive and pay for such bonds in accordance with the terms and provisions of this notice. No bank bidding for such bonds shall file its own cashier's or official's check, nor a check certified by it. Such security shall be held by the municipality unused pending delivery of the bonds and forfeited as full liquidated damages in the event of default by the successful bidder.

The proceedings for this issue have been taken under the supervision of Squire, Sanders & Dempsey, Bond Attorneys, Cleveland, Ohio, whose approving opinion may be obtained by the successful bidder at his expense. A complete transcript of proceedings and the printed bonds will be furnished by the municipality, together with a certificate showing no litigation pending or threatened at the time of the delivery, to enjoin delivery or to contest the validity of the bonds or the power to issue them or the levy or collection of taxes or special assessments for their payment.

In the event the interest on said bonds should by act of Congress or otherwise become subject to Federal Income Taxes prior to delivery, the successful bidder may refuse to accept delivery and in such event his bond or certified check shall be returned without interest.

It is contemplated that the legislative authority of the municipality will meet at eight o'clock p.m. on the 4th day of December, 1961, to consider said bids and make an award.

The bonds will be delivered at the office of the undersigned, or such other place as may be agreed on with the successful bidder; if outside of the limits of the municipality the bidder shall pay expense of delivery at that place.

Before making tender of the bonds at the place of delivery the municipality shall give written notice to the successful bidder not later than the third day before the proposed tender, of the fact that the bonds, transcript, no-litigation certificate, and approving opinion will be available for delivery and giving the date and hour for the tender at the said place of delivery, provided however that nothing herein contained shall prevent the making of a mutually agreeable arrangement for the delivery of the bonds either at the place fixed for delivery or elsewhere.

If such notice has not been given by the municipality or waived by the successful bidder and the bonds transcript, no-litigation certificate and approving opinion are not available for delivery to the successful bidder at such place of delivery on or before 12:00 o'clock noon of the 30th calendar day after the day fixed for the receipt of bids, and the successful bidder shall not be in default or any of his obligations, he shall have the right thereafter and so long as no such tender by the municipality shall yet have been made, to cancel the contract of purchase; such right to be exercised by delivering to the undersigned (or to his office during business hours) written notice of such cancellation. Such bidder shall thereupon be entitled to the return of the deposit which accompanied his bid and it shall be returned to him immediately.

The right is reserved to reject bids.

Q. How can I remove soot from carpets?

A. Soot can be removed from rugs and carpets with dry starch, flour, cornmeal, or fuller's earth. Sprinkle one of these over the stains, let stand for a half - hour, then scrape and brush up. Repeat the process if necessary.

Q. How can I prevent raisins, citrons, or currants from sinking to the bottoms of my cakes?

A. Roll these ingredients in flour and heat them quite well in the oven, then stir them lightly into your batter just before baking your cake.

Q. What can I do for handkerchiefs that are flimsy and have a soiled look?

A. You can often make these look like new by dipping them into starch after washing, then putting them through the rinse water again.

Q. How can I remove some stains from a marble object?

A. A half - lemon dipped into salt, and rubbed on the stains, will usually remove them without trouble. Let the lemon juice remain for an hour, and then wash off with clear water.

Q. How can I prevent gold and silver slippers from tarnishing?

A. Tarnish on these slippers will be forestalled if they are kept well wrapped in old stockings while the shoes are not in use.

Q. What can be done about costume jewelry that tends to discolor, and bracelets and watches that stain the skin?

A. You can avoid both of these problems by coating the surfaces in question with some colorless fingernail polish.

Probe Team Tours World To Bolster Anti-Red Move

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Tribune reported today "a House subcommittee investigating team is touring the world in search of data to bolster the administration's attack on anti-Communist military personnel."

The story, by Tribune Washington writer Willard Edwards, said three investigators are interviewing employes of the U.S. Information Agency in Europe and Asia.

USIA employes have been ordered by its director, Edward R. Murrow, "to furnish all information they can gather on military men in their areas," the Tribune reported.

"The particular interest of the investigators," the newspaper said, "is in statements of activities by American officers abroad which put them in the class of 'radical rightists' currently under attack for infusing their troops with a hatred for Communists and otherwise engaging in'extremist' activities."

The story said the investigators are seeking to uncover "another Walker case."

Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker was transferred from command of troops in Germany in a controversy over his troop indoctrination program. Subsequently he was admonished by the Army on the ground that he had made "inflammatory and derogatory" statements about former public officials including ex-President Harry S. Truman, and had tried to influence the votes of military personnel in the 1960 congressional elections.

Later Walker resigned his commission, saying he took that course instead of accepting retirement benefits in order to free himself from obligations that might affect his future activities.

The Tribune identified the investigating team as attached to the subcommittee on government information headed by Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif.

The story said the investigation was authorized by Chairman William L. Dawson, D-Ill., of the House Government Operations Committee.

Fair And Mild Extend Over Most Of U.S.

By The Associated Press

Fair skies and mild temperatures extended over most of the country today although there were patches of rain, drizzle or snow.

Warm air moved in over the southern Plateau and the southern Rocky Mountain area. Temperatures generally were in the 30s and 40s.

Cool temperatures were reported in the northern Plains with readings in the 20s.

Severe weather along the Gulf Thursday left considerable property damage but no serious injuries were reported.

Homes and buildings were struck by two tornadoes which dippd into two small communities near Pensacola, Fla. A child was hurt at Galaver, Fla.

A twister damaged a few homes and killed several cows in a barn at Ellisville, Miss. Small tornadoes also were reported in southern Louisiana.

Heaviest rainfall was reported in the Northwest. The Coquille and Upqua rivers in southwestern Oregon flooded after a rainfall of 4½ inches. Cattle and some families in lowland areas were taken to higher ground.

Rain also fell along the Atlantic Coast with several stations in North Carolina reporting more than one inch Thursday night.

Snow was reported in parts of Washington, Utah and Montana.

Bones Of Bodies, Possibly Flier's, Aide, To Be Studied

GUAM (AP)—The remains of two bodies, possibly those of Amelia Earhart, famed American flier, and her navigator, were being flown today to University of California at Berkeley for anthropological study.

Willis Snyder, district manager at Guam for Pan American World Airways, said the remains include dental plates and other bones found in a Saipan grave last September.

The bodies are believed to have been buried about the time Miss Earhart's plane disappeared in 1937.

With her was Fred Noonan, her navigator.

Snyder said the box is being sent to Dr. Theodore D. McCown, anthropology professor at University of California.

There were reports last year that parts of the Earhart plane had been recovered from shallow coastal waters at Saipan and that Japanese, who occupied the island before World War II, had executed both Miss Earhart and Noonan.

The latest version is that the plane's generator broke as they landed at Yap, that a new one was installed there, and that the two continued to Saipan where they were imprisoned by the Japanese.

That version says Miss Earhart died of dysentery and that Noonan was shot.

Probers Scan Wreckage; 52 Die In Crash

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—Investigators today combed the wreckage of a New York-bound Argentine jet airliner in an attempt to determine what sent it plunging to the ground, killing all 52 persons aboard.

One U.S. citizen, Gilbert Jean Luy, 48, was listed by the Argentine Airline Aerolineas among the victims. Most of the others were Argentinians.

The plane, a British-built Comet 4, crashed within seconds after takeoff from Viracopos Airport and burst into what one witness described as a "ball of fire."

The weather was clear and airline officials said the pilot gave no indication he was in trouble. The flight originated in Buenos Aires.

Social Security Office Open On Wednesday Night

The Social Security District Office in Youngstown will be open from 6 to 9 every Wednesday evening for the next three weeks for the convenience of people 65 or over who work during the day. That is on Nov. 29, Dec. 6 and Dec. 13.

In announcing the special evening hours, William J. McCauley, manager of the district office, noted that many older people in the Mahoning and Columbiana County areas who still are employed, do not understand that recent changes in the Social Security Law now make it possible for a good number of them to collect some benefits in addition to their earnings.

Older workers made eligible to collect some Social Security benefits for the year 1961 may lose some of the payments due them if they do not make application for them before the end of January 1962, McCauley said.

The Social Security Office serving Mahoning and Columbiana Counties is at 35 Central Square, Youngstown. The phone number is 744-8961.

Rep. Moore Sees Coal Hit By Oil

WASHINGTON — Rep. Arch Moore of the W. Va. First District today sharply criticized the lack of attention and understanding being given West Virginia's unemployment problems in its coal industry by governmental agencies as well as the administration's policies in this field as they effect the National Security of this country.

At hearings being held here concerning the flow of low - cost residual fuel coming into the country, Moore took two witnesses to task for their apparent callous disregard for the plight of the coal mining areas while they increased the flow of residual oil imports into the East Coast.

During the testimony of Frank B. Ellis, director of the Office of Emergency Planning, Moore pointed out that "whether you realize it, — in my part of the country you have a life and death grip over a large segment of my state's population". The remarks were prompted by Mr. Ellis' failure to answer questions posed by Mr. Moore concerning his attitude on import of residual fuel oil, the National Security, and our Nation's ability to produce adequate energy fuels in the event of a national emergency when foreign oil is relied upon to meet our needs.

Rep. Moore, on two occasions, pointed out to the government witnesses that for every million barrels of residual oil imported (two and one-half days quota), a total of almost $4½ million is denied the coal and affiliated industries and their employees.
